

Grants move sound system closer to Liberty Theatre

The Daily Astorian

The Liberty Theatre has been awarded two large grants to purchase and install a permanent sound system in the theater: $22,000 from the James F and Marion L Miller Foundation, and $15,000 from the Oregon Community Foundation. Additional grantors are needed to fulfill the remaining need of $5,000.

The Liberty Theatre currently pays between $1,000 and $1,500 per event to rent an adequate sound system for Liberty-presented performances, which often add hours of setup/tear down time before and after each event. Outside promoters have to rent or bring their own sound system for their shows. Having a sound system designed specifically for the Liberty means the theater can control sound quality, train engineers in-house, and provide consistent, optimum experiences for its patrons.

Engineers have been brought in to model and study the acoustics of the theater, and will be providing assistance in the purchase and installation of the system.
