CANNON BEACH — Exciting things are happening at the Cannon Beach Arts Association in 2018.

We're expanding our programming to include more workshops, adding music to Summer Art Camp, increasing grant opportunities for visual and performing artists, and doubling our exhibit opportunities.

In 2018, gallery exhibitions will feature North Coast artists and will highlight themes such as landscapes, emotion and light. For a full listing of the shows, visit our website or sign up to receive invitations by mail.

We're also piloting a new project to increase artistic opportunities and representation in the gallery with three-day pop-up shows that will focus on themes of identity, heritage, environmental awareness and culture. Each show will feature works from select artists and will be shown on movable panels in the gallery.

The goal of this program is to increase awareness of locally relevant social issues and increase access to community spaces.

'3 Squared: Line, Light, Layers'

Come to the Gallery in January for a three-person exhibit of works from Jani Hoberg, Lisa Wisner and Jan Rimerman. The show runs Wednesday, Jan. 3, to Sunday, Feb. 18, with a reception 6 to 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan 13.

The exhibit, titled "3 Squared: Line, Light, Layers," expresses the artistic soul connection among the women, who grew up together as children. After the artists diverged on individual artistic pathways, they came back together as mature artists, relying on each other for artistic field trips, truthful opinions and undying support.

They will be teaching a mixed-media workshop at the Cannon Beach History Center & Museum. Visit our website at cannonbeacharts.org for times and cost.

Artists wanted for 'Heritage: Stories'

The second exhibit of 2018 is a community show titled "Heritage: Stories." It is open to all artists with a connection to Cannon Beach.

The show runs Wednesday, Feb. 21, to Sunday, March 25, with a reception 6 to 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 24.

Our families and communities live beyond our lifetimes through the stories we tell our children — stories that paint rich histories of lives unseen for generations. This show asks you to express your understanding of heritage through stories, real or imagined, yours or others.

Artists may submit up to three works for consideration between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday, Feb. 19. Jury selection will take place Tuesday, Feb. 20. Artists may collect unselected work between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 21.

Find more information and download submission forms online under 2018 exhibits.
