

Romance is alive at Art and Antiques Walk

OCEAN PARK, WASH. — Savor the winter storms, wrap up in woolen scarves and gloves and enjoy a romantic day between beach and bay in Ocean Park, Washington. The Art and Antiques Walk down Bay Avenue 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 10, offers a slower-paced celebration of romance and love.

Maps to all locations on the Arts and Antiques Walk are available on our Facebook page (search for “Ocean Park Art and Antiques”), and at the Long Beach Peninsula Visitors Bureau, Ocean Park Area Chamber of Commerce and all participating locations.

Love is in the air, and it’s as fresh as a sea breeze!

Adelaide’s & Tapestry Rose Yarn Shop

1401 Bay Ave.

Hosting the Peninsula Fiberistas who spin, weave and give tabletop loom demonstrations. Delicious hot and cold drinks and delectable nibbles to share with your Valentine. Also hosting artist Bette Lu Krause, who will show the first of her new work in a series titled “Into the Woods,” along with her popular silk screened t-shirts and hoodies for men and women.

Bay Avenue Gallery & Studio

1406 Bay Ave.

Home to exhibitions of many local artists and a creatively busy clay studio. Anne Selling will demonstrate her porcelain paperclay techniques 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. during the walk.

Rosa’s Treasure Chest

1410 Bay Ave.

Winter reading at bargain prices, plus diverse collectibles and more.

Forgotten Treasures Antiques & Collectibles Mall

1904 Bay Ave.

More than three dozen dealers with unique and varying interests in the antiques and collectibles arena. Newly expanded Dixie Belle Chalk Paint section with room for demos and classes! Beach Home Old & New also in the mall (booth No. 13) with a dozen winter-snuggle quilts to share with your Valentine.

Andrea Weir Studios

2217 Bay Ave.

Fused glass, art glass, stained glass, beaded jewelry and art pieces plus original paintings and high-quality giclée prints housed in an old boat barn.

Wiegardt Studio Gallery

2607 Bay Ave.

Original paintings on all walls of the first floor, a peek at the artist’s studio and a garret full of fine giclée prints.

Artist Bette Lu Krause will be featured at Adelaide’s & Tapestry Rose Yarn. This acrylic painting is one of a new series titled “Into the Woods.” Also on hand are her locally screen-printed t-shirts and hoodies.

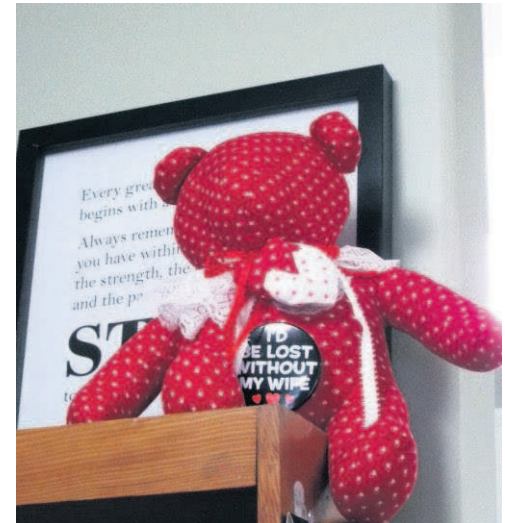

A basket and more of vintage and funny Valentines at Forgotten Treasures Antiques & Collectibles Mall

This “forgotten” table at Forgotten Treasures Antiques & Collectibles Mall has been refreshed with a coat of Dixie Belle chalk paint and delightful transfers.

Forgotten Treasures Antiques & Collectibles Mall is home to many dealers with varying interests. Ed Strange has a wonderful collection of Bauer pottery, glass bases for Alladin lamps and painted furniture.

This Valentine’s bear sits atop a tall bookcase in Adelaide’s, surrounded by oodles of yarn. The Peninsula Fiberistas will be spinning and weaving all day, and delicious hot drinks, ice cream and lighter fare make this a perfect stop for a pick-me-up.

Art glass plates glow with light in Andrea Weir’s Studio. Original artwork and fine art giclée prints vie for space with beaded necklaces, fused glass pendants and beaded artwork.
