The North Oregon Coast has become a mecca for beer lovers with some of Oregon’s best brews calling the coast home. We recommend making the most of your weekend during Pouring at the Coast by visiting our coastal breweries. Starting in Astoria and working your way south offers an opportunity to visit eight coastal breweries for a unique tasting experience at each establishment. We highly recommend tasting responsibly with a designated driver. You may want to stay an extra day to take them all in!

ASTORIA

The historic town of Astoria has four breweries where the beer is brewed on site and one Oregon beer brewed in Newport. The breweries are primarily within walking distance of each other throughout the core downtown and Astoria Riverwalk.

FORT GEORGE BREWERY & PUBLIC HOUSE
1483 DUANE ST. • FORTGEORGE BREWERY.COM

Located in the historic 1921 Lovell building and the 1924 Fort George building, Fort George Brewery offers regular beers, seasonal brews and many food options in multiple seating areas. The Tap Room is an intimate tasting room with several specialty taps. Here you can order nachos, pizza, sandwiches and appetizers. The original Public House has its own menu including fish and chips, burgers, house-made sausages, salads, burritos and more. The Second Floor offers spectacular views with a menu of comfort food including pizza, mac-n-cheese and other specialties from its wood-fired oven.

BUOY BEER CO.
NO. 1 EIGHTH ST. • BUOYBEER.COM

Located in the former Bornstein Seafood processing plant — a 90-year-old facility overlooking the Columbia River — Buoy Beer has become one of Astoria’s most popular brew pubs and restaurants. The brewery’s list of beer can be found on its website and features more than a dozen different styles and flavors, including several standard beers always on hand. While visiting Buoy Beer you’ll enjoy a great selection of handcrafted food, including fresh fish and seafood items in the restaurant and taproom. Buoy Beer is also noted for its floor window to view the sea lions that often make themselves at home under the pier.

WET DOG BREWERY
144 11TH ST. • WETDOGCAFE.COM

Wet Dog Brewery is Astoria’s oldest brewery serving their own beers under the label of Astoria Brewing Company. They typically have more than a dozen of their beers on tap with seasonals and special brews noted daily inside the Wetdog Café. Their restaurant is on the Astoria Riverwalk overlooking the Columbia River and offers a wide selection of burgers, sandwiches, fresh fish dishes and their own soups and salads.

REACH BREAK BREWING
1343 DUANE ST. • FIND IT ON FACEBOOK

Reach Break opened in 2017 and specializes in IPAs, sour and stout beers. While this brewery doesn’t have a sit-down restaurant, Reach Break does boast excellent food carts outside selling craft sausages, barbecue and Thai.

ROGUE ALES & PUBLIC HOUSE
100 39TH ST. ON PIER 39 • ROGUE.COM

Rogue first opened in Ashland, Oregon, in 1988 and has since moved their main brewery to Newport, with two additional allied brewpubs: Issaquah Brewhouse in Washington state and Buckman Botanical Brewing in Portland. They also operate restaurants/public houses from San Francisco, California, to Issaquah, Washington. They offer several dozen different tastings and styles of beer, many of which you can enjoy locally on the North Coast at their Astoria location on the 39th Street pier.

SEASIDE SEASIDE BREWING CO.
851 BROADWAY • SEASIDEBREWERY.COM

Located in the historic building that once housed the old Seaside prison, Seaside Brewing is an easy walk from the Seaside Civic & Convention Center. There are many coastal-themed beers on tap as well as their own brand root beer. The restaurant serves a hardy variety of pub and specialty burgers, sandwiches and seafood. Their outdoor fire pit is a popular place to relax after a big day at the beach or shopping in Seaside.

CANNON BEACH PELICAN BREWING
1372 S. HEMLOCK ST. • PELICAN BREWING.COM

Pelican Brewing has been a longtime favorite brewery in Pacific City since 1996. They operate a small-batch brewery in Cannon Beach and has craft beers available all year, plus about a dozen seasonals in addition to their small batch brews and barrel-aged collections. The Cannon Beach facility is beautifully designed with high ceilings and the brewery operation in full view. Their menu has beer cuisine favorites including appetizers, flatbreads, soups, salads, sandwiches and a variety of fish and comfort foods.

PUBLIC COAST BREWING
264 THIRD ST. • PUBLICCOAST BREWING.COM

Public Coast Brewing is located on the north end of Cannon Beach. They offer their own beers, plus guest taps. The owners also own the iconic Stephanie Inn as well as the Surf-sand Resort and the Wayfarer Restaurant & Lounge. Their pub offers up just plain good grub, primarily from locally sourced farms and ranches. Their burgers, bratwursts, fries and other side dishes are the perfect complement to craft beers.

ABOUT THE FESTIVAL

Pouring at the Coast began in 2010 by the Seaside Chamber of Commerce to celebrate the growing craft beer industry in Oregon. Since then, the North Coast has seen its own growth in high-quality craft beers. We encourage you to explore the breweries and experience Seaside with all it has to offer.
