

You, too, can ukulele

SEASIDE — Come on out to the Seaside Public Library 1 p.m. Saturday, May 5, and learn to play the ukulele at the Ukulaliens workshop, sponsored by the Friends of the Seaside Library.

Sign-up is required, which you can do at the circulation desk or by phone. Musicians-teachers Kate Power and Steve Einhorn travel in Johnny Appleseed fashion from town to town to introduce the fun of playing the ukulele. They will bring 30 “ukes” for participants to use and teach beginners how to play these simple instruments in a friendly atmosphere.

The mission of the Uka-laliens workshop is to grow budding musicians from scratch through the ukulele and to give the uke-curious the opportunity to play the little musical powerhouse that is the ukulele.

The library is located at 1131 Broadway St. For more information, call 503-738-6742 or visit seaside-library.org.

‘Cinderella’ staged at Knappa High School

Theater has been touring for more than 40 years

KNAPPA — The Missoula Children’s Theater presents a public performance of “Cinderella,” starring dozens of students from Knappa, 3 p.m. Saturday, April 28, at the Knappa High School main stage.

The Missoula Children’s Theatre, the nation’s largest touring theater, has been touring for more than 40 years, from Montana to Japan, and will visit 1,200 communities this year with up to 44 teams of tour actor/directors.

A tour team arrived in Knappa with a set, lights, costumes, props and make-up — everything it takes to put on “Cinderella” ... except the cast.

The team held an open audition for Knappa School students and cast some to perform in the production, an original musical adaptation with a twist.

The theater’s mission is to develop life skills in children through helping them participate in the performing arts.

Funding for this program is provided by the Knappa Schools Foundation.

Tickets — $6 general, $5 for those under 5 and over 55 — are available at the door.
