

Wave of pro-Trump books coming in summer, fall

By HILLEL ITALIE
Associated Press

NEW YORK — In a year dominated by such anti-Trump bestsellers as "Fire and Fury" and "A Higher Loyalty," a conservative counter-wave is growing.

Over the next few months, at least half a dozen pro-Trump and/or anti-Russian investigation books are scheduled. They range from insider accounts by former White House officials Sean Spicer and Anthony Scaramucci, both of whom have defended President Donald Trump despite their tumultuous times in Washington, to books from such Fox News regulars as Jeanine Pirro, Alan Dershowitz and former Rep. Jason Chaffetz.

releases serve as a publishing arm to the Trump-led attack against special counsel Robert Mueller's probe into his campaign's Russia ties.

"I think you have various books seeking to be the anti-'Fire and Fury,'" says Eric Nelson, editorial director of Broadside Books, a conservative imprint of HarperCollins Publishers that is releasing Chaffetz's "The Deep State: How an Army of Bureaucrats Protected Barack Obama and Is Working to Destroy Donald Trump" and Gregg Jarrett's "The Russia Hoax: The Illicit Scheme to Clear Hillary Clinton and Frame Donald Trump."

None of the upcoming works are likely to approach the popularity of "Fire and Fury," the Michael Wolff blockbuster which has sold over 1 million copies, or James Comey's "A Higher Loyalty," which has sold hundreds of thousands of copies.

Comey, the FBI director whom Trump fired last year, described the president as "unethical, and untethered to truth and institutional values." Wolff's book made headlines with a quote from former Trump adviser Steve Bannon, who labeled as "treasonous" a decision by Donald Trump Jr. and others to meet in the summer of 2016 with a Russian attorney claiming to have incriminating information about Clinton, the Democratic presidential nominee.

But sales have been solid for pro-Trump releases, some promoted on Fox and other conservative outlets, and by the president himself. According to NPDP BookScan, which tracks around 85 percent of print sales, Corey Lewandowski's and David Bossie's "Let Trump Be Trump" has sold more than 100,000 copies since coming out last December, Newt Gingrich's "Trump's America" more than 50,000 copies since early June and Jerome Corsi's "Killing the Deep State" more than 60,000 since May.

Pirro's "Liars, Leakers, and Liberals: The Case Against the Anti-Trump Conspiracy" reached the top 300 on Amazon.com's best-seller list three weeks before publication. Jarrett's book, which Trump called "A MUST READ!" in a May tweet, made the top 300 a month before its release.

"There's an audience out there and we're trying to serve it," says Rolf Zettersten, founder and publisher of the conservative Center Street imprint, where authors include Gingrich, Lewandowski, Scaramucci and Pirro. Zettersten started the Nashville-based Center Street, part of Hachette Book Group, in 2004 as a publisher for books appealing to the "heartland." He said that Trump's election had led to a bigger market for topical works.

"I think it speaks to the sense that we're more polarized than in years past," he said.
