NRA, others sue Seattle over gun-storage law

Associated Press

SEATTLE — The National Rifle Association, Second Amendment Foundation and two Seattle residents are suing the city over its new gun-storage law.

The lawsuit filed Friday in King County Superior Court says that the safe storage requirement violates Washington state law, which prevents cities from regulating guns, the Seattle Times reported.

“Seattle simply can’t break the law to adopt an ordinance as a political statement,” Bellevue, Washington-based Second Amendment Foundation founder Alan Gottlieb said in a statement.

Earlier this month, the Seattle City Council unanimously passed the legislation proposed by Mayor Jenny Durkan to require gun owners to lock up their firearms.

Durkan signed the legislation Wednesday, with the law set to take effect in January.

The law says a gun owner could be fined up to $500 if a firearm isn’t locked up, up to $1,000 if a minor, “at-risk person” or unauthorized user accesses the weapon and up to $10,000 if someone uses the weapon to injure someone or commit a crime.

The lawsuit was expected by pro gun-control groups including the nonprofit Everytown for Gun Safety and the law firm Orrick LLP, whose officials said previously they would represent Seattle at no charge.

By JACK HEFFERNAN
The Daily Astorian

A Doty, Washington, man was injured in a rollover crash Thursday in Warrenton.

Christopher Jon Brown, 48, was taken to Columbia Memorial Hospital in Astoria after a car rolled over a number of times on Warrenton Drive near 15th Street shortly after 11:30 p.m. He was later taken via Life Flight to the Oregon Health & Science University Trauma Center.

Warrenton police saw Brown walking away from the car. Officers noticed a strong odor of alcohol but did not perform a field sobriety test due to the injuries, Warrenton

The case has been forwarded the Clatsop County District Attorney’s Office for consideration of charges.

Though he carries a Washington state driver’s license, Brown had recently been living in Hammond, Workman said.

Group seeks volunteers to clean up microplastics

The Daily Astorian

Sea Turtles Forever is seeking volunteers to help clean up microplastics in Cannon Beach.

Since 2008, the environmental nonprofit has been using a filtration system to remove extremely small pieces of debris broken down from larger waste in the ocean called microplastics.

They often come in a variety of colors and are often mistaken for sea glass. They bioaccumulate toxins, which then enter the food web after organisms accidentally ingest them, Sea Turtles Forever executive director Marc Ward said.

Microplastics filtration operations will be held 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today through Wednesday at Whale Park in Cannon Beach. Those interested can contact Ward at marc@seaturtlesforever.org.

OBITUARIES

Shannon Lee (Morrell) Westerholm Svensen

November 20, 1975 — July 15, 2018

Shannon Lee Westerholm, 42, passed away at home on July 15, 2018 in Svensen, Oregon. Shannon was born in Reno, Nevada, on Nov. 20, 1975 to Linda Simpson.

Shannon attended school in Reno until the death of her mother, at which time she was adopted by her aunt and uncle and brought to Astoria to finish her education.

In 1995, she met her future husband, Gerritt Westerholm, whom she married in 1997. They lived in Astoria for a few years, having their first son, Austin. They moved to Knappa, Oregon, and had two more sons, Hunter and Mason. Along with her husband, her sons were her pride and joy.

Shannon always worked in the medical field, which showed her generous heart and giving nature. She started in the obstetrics department at Columbia Memorial Hospital in Astoria and then worked at Providence Seaside Hospital as an emergency room technician. So organized and efficient, her co-workers hated to see her having to leave when her heart problems caused her to retire early. However, her skills and knowledge were transferred to her family and friends who needed her special care.

Shannon leaves behind her husband of 21 years, Gerritt; sons, Austin, Hunter and Mason, all of Svensen, Oregon; sister, Teresa Blila, of Terre Haute, Indiana; father, LeRoy Morrell, of The Dalles, Oregon; aunt, Joyce Morrell, of Astoria, Oregon; cousin, Melissa (Wes) Padgett, of Astoria, Oregon; cousin, Randy (Linda) Morrell, of Kelso, Washington; cousin, Annette Morrell, of Texas, and their respective children.

She is also survived by her mother-in-law, Connie, of Knappa, Oregon; brother-in-law, Jason (Tiffany) of Gresham, Oregon; uncle, Alan (Kaci) Quimby, of Svensen, Oregon, and their respective children; aunt, Irene and Dennis (Mary) Loveless, of Montana; and all the nieces, nephews and cousins from both families.

She was preceded in death by her mother, Linda, and her aunt, Roberta.

Shannon will be dearly missed by all who benefited from her care and whom she loved.

There will be a celebration of life with a potluck on Sunday, Aug. 12 from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Wickiup Grange off U.S. Highway 30 in Svensen, Oregon.

Shannon was a staunch supporter of the American Diabetes Association, American Heart Association and the Cerebral Palsy Association. Any donation to these associations or a charity of one’s choice is greatly appreciated.

Caldwell’s Luce-Layton Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.
