

Candy Skein finds sweet craft spot in Astoria

New shop opens in November

By EDWARD STRATTON
The Daily Astorian

Don't mistake it for a candy shop.

Candy Skein, a sweet-themed yarn and accessory shop, is opening in the former La Luna Loca storefront at the corner of Duane and 12th streets in the Liberty Theatre Building in November.

Owners Kurt and Tami Klockau, both former workers in the entertainment industry, started the business in 2011 in San Diego and have so far operated online and through various events.

A friend in Oregon City convinced them to visit the Oregon Coast for the first time several years ago. They took a liking to Astoria and relocated a year ago, jumping on the former La Luna Loca space when it became available.

"Astoria embraces small

Edward Stratton/The Daily Astorian Kurt and Tami Klockau are setting up Candy Skein, their yarn and accessory shop, inside the Liberty Theatre Building at 12th and Duane streets.

business," Kurt Klockau said. "It's just been absolutely fantastic. There are so many artists up here, so many craftspeople."

The name Candy Skein references her love of candy and the crafting term "skein," a length of thread or yarn loosely coiled and knotted, Tami Klockau said. The name also riffs off of candy cane. The Klockaus source their yarn from a cruelty free mill in Italy and from other local suppliers, dyeing it themselves in various candy themed colors. The couple also makes accessories such as stitch markers, pins, kits and patterns, and have reached out to locals about making other value-added products with their yarn.

The former La Luna Loca clothing store was marked by deep purples and a world map left over from the previous tenant, Columbia Travel Agency. The Klockaus have been busy painting over the walls and creating a midcentury modern look with the aesthetics of a candy shop.

In addition to selling their yarns and accessories, the Klockaus will also hold classes, board game and sip-and-craft events, along with movie nights paired with the theme of new yarn lines.

"We see this more of a community space that has retail," Tami Klockau said.

The couple is planning a soft opening in the first week of November while still building up their stock.

Seaside, Gearhart candidates to appear at election forum

The Daily Astorian

The Daily Astorian and the Seaside Signal team with the American Association of University Women to present a Seaside and Gearhart candidate's forum at 7 p.m. on Wednesday at Seaside City Hall.

State House candidates Tiffany Mitchell, Vineeta Lower and Brian Halvorsen will participate or send a representative.

Other candidates participating include Seaside Mayor Jay Barber and challenger John Chapman; and Seaside city councilors Steve Wright, Tita Montero and Dana Phillips, who are each running unopposed.

In Gearhart, incumbent Kerry Smith will be challenged by Jack Zimmerman for the Position 1 seat. Position 3 Councilor Paulina Cockrum is running unopposed.

Robert H. Jacob

Astoria

April 19, 1949 — Sept. 10, 2018

Robert H. Jacob, better known as "Jake" to the Astoria community, passed away Sept. 10, 2018.

He was born in Astoria on April 19, 1949, to Harold and Dorothy Jacob, and is a 1967 graduate of Astoria High School. He went on to study architecture at the University of Oregon.

Jake is beloved by many for initiating projects that spurred Astoria's resurgence and making the town become a popular tourist destination. The Cannery Pier Hotel & Spa is his most notable accomplishment.

He is survived by his daughter, Cheryl, and two grandchildren, Louis and Abby; his brother, Greg Jacob; nephew, Erik Jacob (Nigina, Sean, Sam and Henry); and his niece, Heidi Camp (Leigh, Alyssa, Avery and Amaya).

A celebration of life will be held at the Astoria Armory on Nov. 3 from 2 to 6 p.m.

Memorial donations may be given to the Tourist No. 2 restoration project at The Astoria Ferry website (astoriaferry.com), or by mail to: Astoria Ferry, P.O. Box 221, Astoria, OR, 97103.

Rosalie Thompson

Warrenton

April 9, 1942 — Sept. 9, 2018

Rose Thompson, of Warrenton, left us to be with the Lord on Sept. 9, 2018.

She is survived by her husband, Bud Thompson, and beloved children, Paula Thompson, Mathew Thompson and Mark Thompson. Her extended family included her beautiful stepdaughters, Wendy Coburn and Teri Woodroof, her loving daughter-in-law, Rachel, son-in-law, Gary Woodroof, and Mat's partner, Melody Munson.

A devoted nana, she loved her brood of grandchildren, Zach Otramba, Emily, Sarah and Jessica Woodroof, and Sophia, Audrey, Olive, Violet and Charlotte Thompson.

After several years as a motel manager at the OceanTel in Seaside, Rose moved on to the Bank of Astoria, where many of her customers would wait in line just for the chance to enjoy her gruff but funny banter. After retirement, she enjoyed trips to Egypt and Italy, and continued her unwavering devotion to the Oakland Raiders and the NFL. A wonderful, yet humble cook, Rose's fantastic seafood and Italian meals were as legendary as her critique of bad cooking shows!

In 2017, Rose and Bud celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a Catholic blessing at St. Francis De Sales.

She was loved, and will be missed.

Tourism summit comes to North Coast

The Daily Astorian

People interested in shaping the tourism industry are invited to share their opinions at the North Coast Tourism Summit on Sept. 25 in Garibaldi.

The summit is a part of a multiyear rural tourism studio, a project where professionals from Travel Oregon lead workshops and offer guidance on how to make tourism sustainable — environmentally and economically — for Clatsop and Tillamook counties.

At the end of the process, the grant must be used to finance a tangible change or product, like connecting a trail system or launching an environmental education program.

Residents and industry professionals are invited to
