Filmmaker plans new winery on North Coast

Tasting room in Astoria

By EDWARD STRATTON
The Daily Astorian

A Los Angeles-based filmmaker is planning a winery and tasting room along the North Coast.

Eunice Chiweshe Goldstein is planning to open her eponymously named winery, also honoring her grandmother of the same name, on a plot of land near the mouth of Tillamook Bay in the next few years. By early December, she hopes to open a tasting room of the same name in the basement beneath Capricorn Pub and Fine Foods on Commercial Street in Astoria.

"I don't know if it was pure luck or guidance," Goldstein said of how she decided on Astoria for a tasting room. "I did a little bit of research, and it's a beautiful town to me. Then I came across the building, and the building was perfect for everything I needed."

Along with all styles of wine, Goldstein plans to offer light fare and art for sale, partnering with Capricorn Pub for food. She is also planning an entirely edible chocolate bottle filled with red wine named the "Eunice Bottle" in honor of her late grandmother, who recently died of cancer. Goldstein hopes to eventually market the chocolate wine bottle and other products in grocery stores and online, while opening more tasting rooms in the region.

Goldstein's day job is still in the entertainment industry, where she has numerous acting, writing and directing credits in shorts, feature films, television shows and documentaries. She has also written, directed and produced several shorts and documentaries.

The thought of opening a winery began when Goldstein was in Los Angeles Film School, where she learned of other directors such as Francis Ford Coppola have their own wineries.

"I always wanted to start a winery and name it after my grandmother," she said.

One day on set for a television show, Goldstein was scanning available properties and came across a plot of forested land on a hillside along U.S. Highway 101 near Barview Jetty Park that seemed perfect for a winery and resort with memorabilia from her film projects, she said.

"I want it to be a little getaway bed-and-breakfast," she said.

Goldstein plans to keep her day job in the film industry while running the winery, moving between Oregon and California.

"I think I'll continue to do both no matter what I do," she said. "I just know that film is very capable of changing the world."

Roscoe forums to discuss Clatsop County issues

The Daily Astorian

A series of informational forums organized by Peter Roscoe, a candidate for Clatsop County commission, will delve into key county issues.

The first will be held Sept. 30 from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Netel Grange. Former Astoria Mayor Willis Van Dusen will host the forum, which will center on farming and forestry. Representatives from the county, Clatsop Soil and Water Conservation District, farmers and forestry professionals will be on the panel.

A second forum will take place Oct. 14 at the Clatsop Community College Performing Arts Center. Photographer Don Frank will host the panel discussion about arts, events and museums. Panelists will include Jennifer Crockett, executive director of the Liberty Theatre, and Charlene Larsen, co-chair of the Clatsop

Peter Roscoe

County Cultural Coalition. The final forum will be held sometime in October at The Loft at the Red Building. Skip Hauke, former director of the Astoria-Warrenton Area Chamber of commerce, will moderate the discussion of the restaurant and lodging industry, labor shortages and affordable housing.

Roscoe is facing Pamela Wev in District 3 in the November election.

OBITUARIES

Kimberly Ann Jones-Langdon Kodiak, Alaska

April 29, 1964 — Sept. 15, 2018

Kimberly Ann Jones-Langdon was born in Astoria, Oregon, on April 29, 1964 to LaVerne and Lesley (Leyendecker) Kadera.

She attended and graduated from Seaside High School in 1983. She went on to marry Robert (Rob) Langdon and moved to Kodiak, Alaska, where together they ran Langdon Fisheries.

Kim's short battle with pancreatic cancer ended shortly after her sisters-in-law and brother-in-law granted her final wish of driving her home to Seaside from Houston, Texas. Kim's presence will be missed as a wife, mother, daughter, sister, aunt, cousin and dear friend to anyone lucky enough to have known her.

Kim is survived by her husband, Rob Langdon; daughter, Jaime Hughes; parents, LaVerne and Lesley Kadera; her brother, Scott Kadera; nieces, Bailey, Madison, Niya, Nisa and Brooklyn; and nephew, Sean.

Funeral services are private, but the family would like to invite all those who would like to join them in a celebration of life reception being held on Thursday, Sept. 20, at 2 p.m., at the American Legion Hall, located at 1315 Broadway in Seaside.
