Gearhart golfers win the Clatsop Cup

The Daily Astorian

GEARHART — After a few years of domination by golfers from the Astoria Golf & Country Club, the Clatsop Cup has returned to Gearhart Golf Links, following results of the annual competition between members of the two courses last weekend.

Gearhart Golf Links (est. 1892) and Astoria Golf & Country Club (est. 1923) have enjoyed a friendly rivalry in the form of a golf tournament for the past seven years.

The Clatsop Cup is a two-day event that pits 12 players from each club in match play similar to the Ryder Cup.

The golfers from Gearhart were looking for a little redemption this year, and managed to score better both days to regain the Cup.

Saturday's better-ball matches were played at Astoria's course, and finished with Gearhart holding a four-point lead. Sunday's singles matches took place at Gearhart, and when the dust settled, the Gearhart golfers scored more than enough points to steal the Cup.

The Clatsop Cup will remain in Gearhart's Pro Shop for at least one year, until the matches are played again in 2019.

Rainier rallies to beat Warrenton volleyball team

The Daily Astorian

RAINIER — The Warrenton volleyball team came within a few points of doing something the Warriors have not done since 2012.

But the Rainier Columbians rallied from a two-games-to-one deficit and won in five games Wednesday night, a 25-19, 26-28, 12-25, 25-20, 15-12 victory over the Warriors in a Coastal Range League volleyball showdown.

Rainier ran its win streak over Warrenton to 12 in a row, dating back to 2013. Warrenton's last win over Rainier took place Oct. 16, 2012.

It was the second loss for the Warriors in as many nights, following a Tuesday defeat at Willamina.

Warrenton has an eight-day break before hosting Taft Sept. 27.

Timbers down short-handed Columbus Crew

Associated Press

PORTLAND— Andy Polo's first goal in Major League Soccer put the Timbers in front before the end of the first half and Portland went on to defeat the Columbus Crew 3-2 on Wednesday night.

Polo also had an assist on David Guzman's tying goal after the short-handed Crew went up in the opening minutes.

"He had a great performance and he's been looking for the goal for a while," Timbers coach Giovanni Savarese said about Polo.

No. 7 Stanford gets Love back for No. 20 Oregon

By JOSH DUBOW

Stanford will get star running back Bryce Love back for this week's Pac-12 North showdown against No. 20 Oregon, but the seventh-ranked Cardinal will be without a key defensive player.

Coach David Shaw said that outside linebacker Casey Toohill will miss the game against the Ducks (3-0, 0-0 Pac-12) with an undisclosed injury.

Shaw said Love was "100 percent" after resting some minor ailments last week when the Cardinal (3-0, 1-0) easily beat FCS-level UC Davis 30-10.

"Last week he was Coach Bryce, working with the other guys, telling them what he saw and walking around with a script," Shaw said. "He still got his workouts in last week so he's physically ready this week. This week he doesn't need to coach anybody. He just needs to carry the ball."

The Cardinal will be counting on Love in the tough environment of Autzen Stadium against a defense that has allowed opponents just 2.0 yards per carry and 77 yards per game on the ground.

Stanford hasn't hit its stride yet running the ball after last year's stellar campaign that made Love the Heisman Trophy runner-up. He ran for 2,118 yards a year ago for the most of any Power 5 player, averaged 8.1 yards per carry and set an FBS record with 13 runs of at least 50 yards.

Love ran for 147 yards and two TDs on 17 carries in last year's 49-7 win over Oregon.

He hasn't had as easy a go of it this year as defenses have loaded up the box to limit his production.

Love was held to 29 yards on 18 carries in a season-opening win over San Diego State. He fared much better in Week 2 with 136 yards on 22 carries against USC but has yet to break a long TD run this season.

As a team, the Cardinal are averaging just 3.8 yards per carry this season and haven't topped 160 yards on the ground in any of their three games.

"Two out of three games, the defenses were just saying, 'We're going to put one more guy in the box than you can block,'" Shaw said. "I'm stubborn enough to keep running it and try to establish the run game, knowing that we have a running back that even if they do load the box if we get a crease he'll still take it the distance."
