By JACK HEFFERNAN
The Daily Astorian

An Astoria woman was arrested Wednesday after a short police chase.

An officer attempted to stop the woman, who was driving north on Seventh Street without headlights on just after 8 p.m. She then allegedly accelerated away from the scene.

She continued before turning onto Eighth Street, Jerome Avenue and Fifth Street before reaching a dead end. The woman allegedly struck a parked car during the chase, causing minor damage.

Tiffany Jane Richardson, 32, was arrested and charged with eluding, driving under the influence of intoxicants, hit-and-run and reckless driving.

Utah man arrested after threatening standoff with police

By JACK HEFFERNAN
The Daily Astorian

A Utah man was arrested Wednesday after threatening a knife standoff with police.

A Port of Astoria officer called police at 10:45 p.m. about a man who was wanted on a warrant but said an arrest attempt would end in a standoff. Astoria police made contact with the man at West

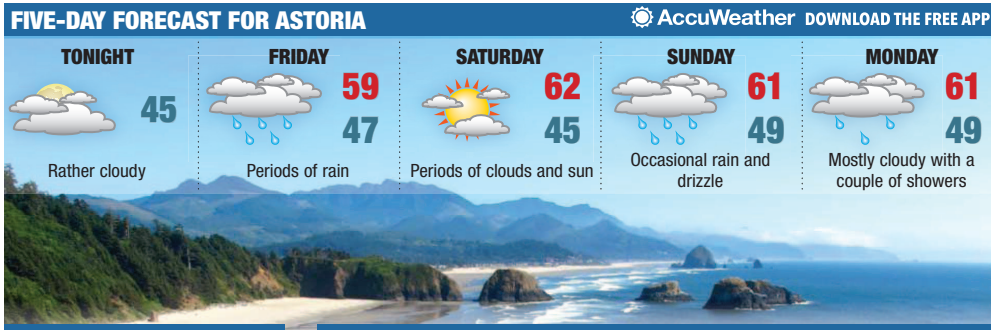

Marine Drive and Bay Street.

When asked to stop, Michael Douglas Hathaway, 37, allegedly refused and was concealing a dirk-style knife, which officers asked him repeatedly to drop. He allegedly took the knife out at one point and told officers they would have to shoot him to take him into custody.

After a few minutes of talking to police, Hathaway agreed to drop the knife and surrender. He was taken to Columbia Memorial Hospital in Astoria after allegedly telling police he had ingested heroin.

Hathaway was later taken to Clatsop County Jail and charged with unlawful use of a weapon, carrying a concealed weapon and felon in possession of a restricted weapon.

Hawaiian Chieftain out for repairs

The Daily Astorian

Sailing excursions and tours planned on a tall ship in Astoria this week are canceled due to repairs.

Part of the Hawaiian Chieftain's rig became unstable, said Zachary Stocks, program development officer with Grays Harbor Historical Seaport, the nonprofit that maintains both the Hawaiian Chieftain and a larger ship, the Lady Washington.

"Rather than try to sail with it, we determined the safety risk was too great," Stocks said.

The ship could be out of the water for repairs for the next two weeks. The nonprofit plans to postpone a scheduled trip to California and instead offer sails and tours in Astoria when repairs are complete. The last time the group had to cancel a sail was due to weather, Stocks said.

The Hawaiian Chieftain was slated to offer educational programs, boat tours and sails in Astoria beginning Tuesday and running through Sunday. The Lady Washington is docked in Coos Bay this week.

"The only thing I can say is these are unexpected challenges," Stocks said. "In the long term, we're hoping to make it up to folks here in Astoria."
