

Hey-Ho Trio plays old gems, vintage-sounding originals

LONG BEACH, WASH. — The Peninsula Arts Centers presents the Hey-Ho Trio, 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 24. Doors open at 6:30 p.m.

The trio is half of Portland swing band the Midnight Serenaders. The band's sound is reminiscent of the small swing combos popular during the 1920s and '30s. Their repertoire consists of gems from the past and vintage-sounding original songs.

Doug Sammons (guitar, lead and harmony vocals) was a member of the renowned jug band the Metropolecats. Dee Settlemier, (vocals, guitar, mandolin, banjo and ukulele) has been writing songs and singing as long as she can remember. And Doc Stein (on Hawaiian Steel Guitar) has played with Maria Muldaur, John Sebastian, David Grisman, Dan Hicks and others.

The venue is at 504 Pacific Ave. N. Long Beach.

Tickets are available at brownpapertickets.com/event/3618441, or call Bill Svendsen at 360-901-0962.

Montgomery sings of love, pain

Deb Montgomery

SEASIDE — Seaside Brewing Co. presents Seattle's Deb Montgomery and her band as part of the Seaside Brewing Co. Music Series, 7:30 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 25. Montgomery and her band will feature music from the just-released EP "All the Water."

"Deb is probably one of the best songwriters out there right now. Her lyrics tell stories, speak of love and pain, but always with devastating eloquence," a Huff Post critic wrote.

Seaside Brewing Co. is at 851 Broadway St.

The North Coast Chorale performs at Clatsop Community College's Performing Arts Center.

Aria planning to help local food banks?

ASTORIA — The North Coast Chorale's "Messiah" Sing-Along / Play-Along, a benefit for local food banks, takes place 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 25, at Clatsop Community College's Performing Arts Center, 588 16th St.

For this afternoon of musical enchantment, attendees can simply listen to the cho-rases and arias sung by the Chorale and soloists. Or, if they want to join in the singing, scores will be available in the lobby. Instrumentalists are also invited — bring an instrument and "Play Along" with the accompanist to make this a delightful afternoon for everyone.

The event is free, but donations of food or money are requested. Last year alone, more than $1,250 was raised, plus 96 pounds of food.

All proceeds go directly to Clatsop Community Action's Regional Food Bank, which distributes to local food banks.
