

Filmmaker series looks at Seattle trolleybus, seaplanes

SEASIDE — The Friends of the Seaside Library host local filmmaker Ron Walker as he presents his two-film series “Seattle by Trolleybus” and “Christian and His Seaplanes.” The event takes place 1 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 26, in the Seaside Public Library’s Community Room.

Walker has a deep interest in electric public transportation, and in “Seattle by Trolleybus” he focuses on this zero-polluting technology. Walker interviews bus drivers as well as many of the people that are involved with running and maintaining the electric buses in the Emerald City. Everyone he came in contact with loves the clean, quiet, operation of the system, which uses no fossil fuels.

For “Christian and His Seaplanes,” Walker stumbled on Kenmore Air in Seattle, which is the largest seaplane base in the U.S. He filmed and interviewed a young mechanic who has a passion for airplanes, and whose job it is to maintain the fleet of amphibious aircraft.

The library is at 1131 Broadway St. For more information, call 503-738-6742 or visit seasidelibrary.org.

A stern lecture from local historian

SEASIDE — Shipbuilding is not an industry that springs to mind when considering the work of Clatsop County’s early pioneers, but author and historian Jerry Sutherland aims to change that.

Sutherland returns to History & Hops at 6 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 31, at Seaside Brewing Co. to share the story of shipbuilding on the Clatsop Plains.

While doing research for his book “Calvin Tibbets: Oregon’s First Pioneer,” Sutherland learned about pioneers building ships at Skipanon Landing as early as 1849. He will share historical maps, drawings and manuscripts as he makes shipbuilding in early Clatsop County come to life. History & Hops is a series of local history discussions hosted by the Seaside Museum on the last Thursday of each month, September through May, at Seaside Brewing Co., 861 Broadway St.

Recruiting now: young entrepreneurs

ASTORIA — Astoria Sunday Market’s annual Open House for the Young Entrepreneurs Biz Kidz program will be held at 6 p.m.

Monday, Jan. 28, inside the 4-H Club House located at the parking lot across from Clatsop County Fair Grounds on Walluski Loop.

Working with Clatsop County 4-H, the Young Entrepreneurs Club provides an opportunity for young people to make and sell their own product at Astoria Sunday Market.

The Open House offers an opportunity to learn more about the 2019 program.

This year the training is taking a different approach with much of it available online. Electronic newsletters will focus on a different element of training to include ideas to do at home.

A new Facebook page for Biz Kidz can be found at facebook.com/ASMBizKidz. The group will meet at Astoria Studio Collective to meet artists and makers and enjoy a hands-on activity. Biz Kidz are also invited to the New Vendor Luncheon where they’ll meet other vendors and learn tips for great booth displays.

The full schedule of dates and locations will be provided at the Open House and posted online at AstoriaSundayMarket.com.
