Seth Walker Trio takes KALA stage

ASTORIA — KALA brings South Carolinian Seth Walker — a national roots, blues and soul artist — to the stage 8 p.m. Saturday, March 9.

Walker is on tour with his album “Are You Open?” His trio is a staple in the roots and blues world, including multiple support slots for The Wood Brothers and performances on Delbert McClinton’s Sandy Beaches Cruise.

Over the past decade, Walker has become recognized as one of the most revered modern roots artists in the U.S. — a three-dimensional talent who combines a gift for melody and lyric alongside a rich, Gospel-drenched, Southern-inflected voice with a true knack for getting around on the guitar.

Tickets are $15. Doors open at 7:30 p.m. The show is for people 16 and older. There will be a full bar. Advance tickets can be bought online: libertyastoria.showare.com. Will call tickets will be at the door at showtime.

KALA is at 1017 Marine Drive in Astoria.

Traditional Irish music at the PAC, for the PAC

ASTORIA — Daymark with Eric McDonald will present a concert to benefit the Performing Arts Center at 7 p.m. Friday, March 8. Tickets are $15 and available on Brown Paper Tickets (supportthepac.brownpapertickets.com/).

Daymark is an international trio that performs traditional Irish music. Fusing the talents of Will Woodson (flute, uilleann pipes), Dan Foster (fiddle) and Eric McDonald (guitar, vocals), the group presents a classic blend of wind and string as driving flute meets virtuosic fiddle, underpinned by expertly delivered guitar.

Each member of the trio had carved their musical pathways and style from study, travels and performances in Ireland, Scotland, England, America and Canada before meeting at the Northern Roots Festival in Vermont in 2016.
