

Locals run the Boston Marathon

By EDWARD STRATTON
The Daily Astorian

Astoria natives Chloe Allen Maycock and Scott Atwood have been friends since elementary school.

On Monday, the two Astoria High School Class of 1992 graduates will join the rarified group of runners to compete in the Boston Marathon.

Allen Maycock, 44, an anesthesiologist in Portland, began running competitively at 35, during her medical residency and after a bout with thyroid cancer. She got into marathons after clerking at Pacific Family Medicine under Kate Merrill, a local doctor who has also competed in the Boston Marathon.

“Working with her was my first realization that I could do this,” Allen Maycock said.

Boston will be her 12th marathon. Allen Maycock met her qualifying time at the Revel Mt. Charleston Marathon in Las Vegas.

Atwood, 45, a software engineer for Google

Chloe Allen-Maycock and Scott Atwood, both Astoria High School Class of 1992 graduates, will run the Boston Marathon on Monday.

in the Bay Area, ran track and cross-country in high school, placing in the top 10 at the state finals before taking a 20-year break from running. Atwood was back in Astoria about four years ago, being inducted into the high school's athletics hall of fame. He performed terribly in the alumni run but ended up getting back into running, Atwood said.

Atwood started with a 5-kilometer turkey trot before graduating to half marathons. When his wife wanted to visit Disney World, Atwood saw there was a race that lined up with their visit, albeit a full marathon.

“I didn't do great,” he said.

Atwood hired a coach and spent the next several months preparing to qualify for the Boston marathon, which he did at the Eugene Marathon a year ago.

When she found out she'd be running with a childhood friend in Boston, Allen Maycock sent Atwood a simple message: “See you there.”

Canadian man caught with meth off the Oregon Coast

The Daily Astorian

A criminal complaint has been filed in federal court against a man who allegedly was transporting 196 gallons of liquid methamphetamine off the Oregon Coast.

While on a routine patrol, the Coast Guard cutter Alert on Tuesday attempted to communicate with John Phillip Stirling, a 65-year-old Canadian citizen sailing a U.S.-registered vessel 225 nautical miles north of Newport, according to court documents.

Stirling, authorities said, went below deck and would only respond via VHF radio. Once Coast Guard personnel confirmed his vessel, the Mandalay, was U.S. flagged, they boarded and found Stirling to be the only occupant.

Stirling stated he did not have vessel documentation and refused to produce identification. After beginning to display signs of a possible drug overdose, Coast Guard personnel administered medical aid to Stirling and evacuated him by helicopter to Astoria before taking him to Adventist Health Portland for additional treatment.

Coast Guard personnel conducted a search of the Mandalay and found 28 7-gallon jugs of methamphetamine.

TOMORROW'S NATIONAL WEATHER

John 'Jack' Bradbury Warrenton

Sept. 10, 1929 — March 12, 2019

John "Jack" Bradbury, an 89-year-old resident of Warrenton, passed away on Tuesday, March 12, 2019, of natural causes at Columbia Memorial Hospital in Astoria.

Born on Sept. 10, 1929, in Boise, Idaho, to Frederick and Jeannette (Plunkett) Bradbury, Jack was the oldest of four children — Bob, Carol and Jim. Jack grew up in several Washington state and Oregon cities, where he developed a keen interest in the outdoors that was to last the rest of his life.

Jack worked as a butcher and auto mechanic before graduating from Astoria High School in 1947. Jack enlisted in the Air Force in 1951, where he served as a mechanic on the B-36 "Peacemaker," based in England. Returning to Astoria in 1954, Jack worked as an auto and marine mechanic before beginning his career with Pacific Power and Light (PP&L) in 1960. He worked for PP&L for 28 years until he retired in 1988 as district manager in Seaside.

Civic and community service were important, and Jack was active in the Elks, Moose, Shriners, Masons (50-year member), and Rotary, among others. He served with the Power Boat Squadron and the Coast Guard Auxiliary. Jack was a member, and served as an elder, at Pioneer Presbyterian Church in Warrenton.

Jack is survived by his children, Alexis Kinner (Sery Kinner), of Portland, Oregon, Raymond Bradbury (Barbara Jones), of Anchorage, Alaska, Carol Coggins, of New Jersey, and Ross Bradbury, of England; grandchildren, Nicholas Delzell, Brandon Delzell, Sam Coggins, Josie Coggins, Claire Bradbury, Dan Bradbury, Chris Kinner and Matthew Kinner; and three great-grandchildren.

He is also survived by his sister, Carol Roland (BJ), of Arizona; brother, Jim Bradbury (Trish), of Bend; seven nieces and nephews; two cousins; and countless friends in and outside of Clatsop County.

Jack was preceded in death by his parents; his brother, Bob; his wife, Thelma (Knutson) Bradbury (1983); his wife, Hazel (Weyr) Bradbury (2004); and his close companion, Joyce Wilson (2016).

A funeral service will be held at Pioneer Presbyterian Church, 33324 Patriot Way, Warrenton, Oregon, at 11 a.m. on Saturday, May 18, 2019. A reception to celebrate Jack's life will begin immediately after the service at the Warrenton Community Center, 170 S.W. Third St., Warrenton, Oregon.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Pioneer Presbyterian Church Elevator Construction Fund or to a charity of your choice.

Thanks to all who cared for Jack in his final days, including Dr. Sonny Park and the staff from his office, the nursing staff at Columbia Memorial Hospital, the staff at Clatsop Care Center, his friends at Pioneer Presbyterian Church, the Senior Center, and the Wilson family.
