

Lloyd, a World Cup starter again, scores 2 as US defeats Chile, 3-0

By ANNE M. PETERSON

PARIS — Carli Lloyd wasn't thrilled to open the Women's World Cup on the bench for the United States. She accepted the role, but made no secret she wanted to start.

When the call came Sunday, Lloyd made it count with a pair of goals to lead the defending champions to a 3-0 victory over Chile. The win pushed the United States into the round of 16.

Lloyd was the hero of the World Cup in Canada four years ago when she scored three goals in the final against Japan that gave the Americans their third World Cup title. But she was on the bench when the U.S. opened the tournament, even though she scored later as a substitute in the 13-0 victory over Thailand.

"I know that my ability is there, I know this is my best version of me. I've just got to go out there and prove it," she said. "Whether that's coming off the bench and making an impact, whether that's starting and getting the opportunity, which I'm grateful for, I'm just trying to make the most of it. I want to win."

Lloyd became the first player to score in six straight World Cup matches with her goal in the 11th minute.

She added another on a header off a corner in the 35th for her 10th career World Cup goal, which moved her into third on the U.S. list behind Abby Wambach (14) and Michelle Akers (12). At 36, she became the oldest player to have a multi-goal game in the tournament.

She nearly got another hat trick — which would have made her the first player with two in the World Cup — but her penalty kick in the 81st minute went wide left.

"It's haunting me right now," Lloyd said. "Wasn't good enough."

The score could have been worse for Chile without unshakable goalkeeper Christiane Endler, who finished with six saves and fended off a flurry of U.S. shots in the second half.

Endler was named player of the match.

Carli Lloyd celebrates after scoring the opening goal against Chile.

"I love the balls coming towards me and being able to showcase my skills," she said through a translator. "Obviously it's difficult to maintain concentration. I think in the first half it was difficult for me to get into the game. I think the second half went better for me and in general for the team."

The victory over Chile was more subdued than the U.S. team's record-breaking rout of Thailand. The Americans celebrated every goal even after the win was well in hand, and the display offended many who thought the champions should have shown more class. The controversy clouded the run-up to the match against Chile.

Yankees get AL home run leader Encarnacion in trade with Mariners

CHICAGO — The New York Yankees acquired AL home run leader Edwin Encarnacion in a trade with the Seattle Mariners on Saturday night, adding another feared slugger to what could be baseball's most powerful lineup when Aaron Judge and Giancarlo Stanton return from injuries.

Seattle is sending the Yankees $8,397,849, leaving New York to pay $8 million of remaining $16,397,849 Encarnacion is guaranteed. New York is sending 19-year-old minor league pitcher Juan Then to Seattle.

Speaking before the trade was announced, New York manager Aaron Boone declined comment. But asked about having room for another power bat, Boone coyly responded, "There's always room for good players."

The 36-year-old Encarnacion has hit 21 home runs this season and has averaged 37 homers and 109 RBIs in his last seven years. He is owed $11,397,849 of his $20 million salary this year plus a $5 million buyout of a $25 million club option for 2020. There had been speculation the Yankees would be in the market for a top pitcher as the July 31 approached, but the Bronx Bombers always have room for big boppers. "We know Edwin is a really good hitter," Gleyber Torres said after homering in the AL East-leading Yankees in an 8-4 win over the Chicago White Sox.

Oregon State's Rutschman is college baseball player of the year

OMAHA, Neb. — Oregon State catcher and top overall draft pick Adley Rutschman is winner of the Dick Howser Trophy as college baseball player of the year.

The National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association announced its major award winners Saturday. UCLA reliever Holden Powell was named Stopper of the Year and Michigan's Erik Bakich was named coach of the year.

Rutschman was selected No. 1 by the Baltimore Orioles after batting .411 with a nation-leading .575 on-base percentage, 17 home runs, 58 RBIs and a .751 slugging percentage.

Powell had 17 saves to go with a 4-3 record and 1.84 ERA.

Bakich coached Michigan to its first College World Series appearance since 1984 after the Wolverines knocked off No. 1 national seed UCLA in super regionals. Michigan's 46 wins entering Saturday were its most since 2008.

Tournament: Warrenton had just three hits off Astoria's Feldman

Warrenton had just three hits off Feldman, who struck out eight and gave up six walks and three hit batters.

But with his pitch count rising in the late innings, Feldman walked two batters in the bottom of the seventh and Gabe Breitmeyer reached on an infield hit to load the bases for Morrow, whose fly ball to left caught the jet stream, enough to clear the fence for the game-winning hit.

Breitmeyer had two of Warrenton's three hits, including a double in the first inning.

Duane Falls got the pitching victory. Tony Tumbarello had two of Astoria's three hits, while the Fishermen drew eight walks.

Against Santiam Christian — with many of the same players who lost to the Warriors in the state playoffs — Warrenton pitcher Austin Little tossed a two-hit shut-out, with six strikeouts and three walks in the one-run victory.

Little also scored Warrenton's only run. He drew a walk in the first inning, took second on a sacrifice bunt and scored on a single by Morrow, who drove in all five of Warrenton's runs in both games.

In Saturday's fourth game, Knappa defeated Astoria 3-0.

Knappa pitcher Mark Miller zeroes in on the strike zone during the Loggers' game with Warrenton.

The Loggers scored on run in the first and tacked on two in the third, and let Patterson do the rest from the mound, as he allowed just one hit in the seven-inning shutout.

Knappa had four hits off Astoria's Hunter Ficken, who struck out six with three walks.
