

Fundraiser for Lummi Nation

ASTORIA — A fundraiser for the Lummi Nation's annual tribal canoe journey is scheduled for the July 7 Astoria Sunday Market.

The event will feature a raffle, native drumming and chanting. Top prizes are an adventure package for two with a zipline tour, a $50 gift certificate to Baked Alaska and a one-night stay in a local vacation rental studio. Other prizes include T-shirts, tea towels and drink coasters featuring traditional tribal motifs like whales, ravens and bears.

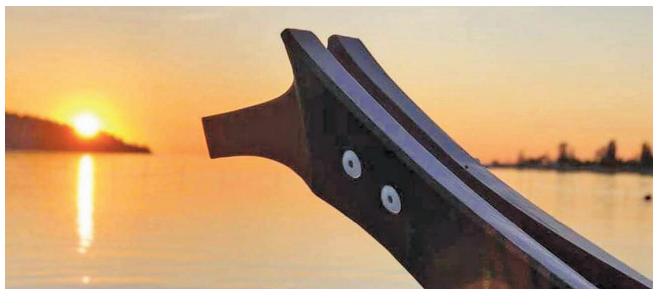

All proceeds will benefit Paddle to Lummi 2019, a gathering of tribes July 24-28 from up and down the Pacific Coast.

They will arrive by canoe on the shores of the Lummi reservation near Bellingham, Wash., for feasts and other traditional celebrations. The Lummi will furnish 150,000 free meals to guests; showers, bathrooms and other facilities for more than 100 canoe families and create spaces and activities for elders, youth and families.

The fundraiser is sponsored by Astoria's Pacific Unitarian Universalist Fellowship, which is joining with other West Coast congregations to honor the Pacific Northwest's deep connections with native people.

Prepare your Haunted Astoria short story with tarot cards at writer's workshop

ASTORIA — Haunted Astoria will offer a writing workshop using tarot cards on Thursday, July 11, from 5:30-7:30 p.m. at WineKraft, 80 10th St. on Pier 11. The cost to participate is $35 and includes one glass of wine or other beverage.

Participants can register by emailing their first and last name to explorehauntedastoria@gmail.com. The workshop is limited to 20 participants. Acceptance and instructions for paying the fee will be sent to participants as they register.

The goal of the workshop, led by Kate Deeks, is to help writers prepare their short-story submission for Haunted Astoria's Short Story Writing Contest.

"Tarot cards can be powerful tools to harness the creative, guiding power of your subconscious," Deeks said.

The Haunted Astoria Short Story Writing Contest theme for 2019 is Underground Astoria.

This workshop will have both explanation and exploration of tarot, card decks to inspire, one writing prompt activity and a chance for sharing results.

Participants receive a $5 discount to the Astoria Underground tours led by Jeff Daley and a free pass to Clatsop County Historical Society Museum, Flavel House and Oregon Film Museum.

Short story submissions are due Oct. 6 and should not exceed 1,200 words. Haunted

Astoria is a weekend of activities happening Oct. 25-27. There is a $10 fee to enter the contest and cash prizes of $125 for first place, $85 for second place and $50 for third place will be awarded.

Short story submissions will be read by actors from Astor Street Opry Company at a writer's showcase on Friday, Oct. 25. Winners of the contest will also be announced then.
