

14. RiverSea Gallery, 1160 Commercial St.

Presenting "A Night at the Natural History Museum" featuring artists Dave Benz and Jill McVarish whose latest work alludes to historical themes with a playful, uncanny twist. "Toys Take Me Back" features portraits of vintage toys by Rebecca Sentgeorge, and "The Fine Line Between Dreams and Reality" features a collection of jewelry and small art objects by Tabor Porter celebrating the upcoming Day of the Dead. Come meet the artists and enjoy refreshments and live music by Kit Garoutte and Ann Fleming.

15. Table 360 Bakery, 1184 Commercial St.

Meet and greet local artist, Reba Owen, as she shares her exhibit of Halloween themed watercolor paintings. All proceeds will benefit the Wildlife Center of the North Coast.

16. The Art Stall, 1268 Commercial St.

See the work of several local artists and newly added artist Wenda Vorce. Her assemblage work is made from recycled and found objects, several with a nautical theme. Her acrylic paintings of trees are colorful and whimsical.

17. TEMPO Gallery, 1271 Commercial St.

"Women in Hats" is the theme of Vicki Baker's show this month. She has created a series of small 6"x6" paintings. Each painting depicts women drawn from her imagination in all styles of hats. Enjoy keyboard and violin duos by Denise Reed and Sabine Muth.

18. Old Town Framing Company, 1287 Commercial St.

We welcome our framer Corrie, doing her amazing henna tattoos. Cost is free but tips appreciated. Also featuring musical guest, Casual Cowboy. American gothic folk, sultry sounds to calm the ego, a dreamlike trance, a floating waltz. Don't miss this.

19. Coastal Oregon Artist Residency exhibit, 1312 Commercial St. (Anita Building)

Regional artists, Drea Rose Frost and Jeremy Furnish present work created during their Coastal Oregon Artist Residency, an annual collaboration between Recology Western Oregon and Astoria Visual Arts. Frost's work revolves around repeat patterns in nature. Furnish's work encourages awareness of consumerism and our planet.

20. Penpoint Gallery inside WORLD, 1310 Duane St.

Penpoint art of Pat Kankkonen is on display. Remarkable ability to see and draw amazing detail led Kankkonen to create stunning reflections of nature's purity as well as blends with mankind's additions — farms and fences, grand architecture, ships and trains.

21. Reach Break Brewing, 1343 Duane St.

Reach Break is presenting two artists this month. Zachary Caswell specializes in abstract art, largely utilizing recycled materials in supporting the green movement. Melissa LaBounty specializes in realistic art, with an inspiration of mid-century pop icons.

22. Munk Tiki, 1241 Duane St.

Presenting tiki artists from around the country with paintings and sculpture from over 20 artists. Throw on your Hawaiian shirt and join us.

23. Oscar d'Masi Studio & Gallery, 395 11th St.

d'Masi has new work to enjoy and will be here to chat about his paintings. We offer multiple print sizes, exclusive art mugs and tiles.

24. AVA Artist-in-Residence, 372 10th St. (Upstairs)

Soulful playfulness is what Oscar Nelson wants to convey with his latest work as he takes a light-hearted approach in combining abstraction, street art influences and asemic writing. Next door, Morrison Pierce's newest mixed media paintings feature portraits of locals that are behind some of the great art happenings in Astoria. AVA's a-i-r program provides free studio space for 4 months to artists to promote their artistic pursuits.

25. AVA Center for the Arts, 1000 Duane St.

Astoria Visual Arts welcomes past and present artists-in-residence both from the AVA a-i-r program and those that have been awarded the Coastal Oregon Artist Residency, a partnership between Western Recology Oregon and AVA. Since 2015, 31 artists have been awarded residencies. This show highlights these artists in a group exhibit titled "Emerging."

26. Astoria Studio Collective, 1010 Duane St. (Upstairs)

The collective houses 19 art studios on three floors, with a common space gallery on the second floor. The artists mediums range from ceramics, painting, sculptures, jewelry, digital design, mixed media and makers.

27. Sea Gypsy Gifts, 1001 Commercial St.

Join us to celebrate our five year anniversary this month. We started with five local artists and are up to 40 wonderful, amazing, artistic people who work hard creating this gallery. And don't forget to vote for the Odd Fellows Building. Help us and our neighbors at Pier Pressure to restore this lovely building.

28. Reclamation Marketplace, 936 Commercial St.

Reclamation is pleased to announce that we will be displaying the talented Angela Myers' vintage beaded embroidery and other original artwork through October. We will also be featuring the psychedelic techno trance music of DJ MK-VZ.
