

Photos by Lucy Kleiner

ABOVE: Laurel's Cannon Beach Wine Shop is filled with not only wine bottles but also artwork and posters for an informational experience. RIGHT: The owner of Laurel's Cannon Beach Wine Shop spends half her time in Cannon Beach and half her time in the Willamette Valley.

Continued from Page 10

But the true knowledge comes from the owners. The pair lives part-time in the valley and part-time on the coast, splitting their homebase between their grapes and their bottles.

Laurel's is nestled in a cozy space right off the main drag in Cannon Beach. The shop has been there for quite awhile, and it shows, offering a wide selection bottles from around the world. Don't be afraid to ask questions and dig deeper — Laurel's Cannon Beach Wine Shop is committed to making the space an explorative experience where customers aren't just purchasing, but also learning.

Dixie's Vino in Manzanita sells bottles and tastings from around the world and our own Willamette Valley.

