The annual FisherPoets Gathering in Astoria is touted as a creative celebration of the commercial fishing industry.

While poetry, prose and songs are the event's highlights, fine art photographer Corey Arnold's photography exhibit at Imogen Gallery provides an equally revealing look at life on the water.

"It brings a different flavor, putting it into the language of visual arts," said gallery owner Teri Sund.

Since opening her gallery on 11th Street in 2012, Sund has hosted an art show in conjunction with the FisherPoets Gathering, held the last weekend of February. She typically rotates between Portland-based painter George Wilson and Arnold, a
