

What are they reading?

Astoria Public Library Director Jimmy Pearson recommends 'Drive Your Plow Over the Bones of the Dead.'

Reading 'This Tender Land' has connected Ilwaco library manager Susan Carney to her father.

Jenny Grenfell, Ocean Park library manager, recently read 'The Riddlemaster of Hed.'

Librarians share books they are devouring

BY ALYSSA EVANS

Librarians are one of the best sources, if not the best, when deciding what to read next. To help you choose what to add to your reading list, here are some of the North Coast's librarians' current reads.

Astoria Library

Astoria Library Director Jimmy Pearson and his staff are currently reading an abundance of books. The first is "Drive Your Plow over the Bones of the Dead" by Olga Tokarczuk, which won the 2018 Nobel Prize in Literature.

Other choices include "The Housekeeper and the Professor" by Yoko Ogawa, and "Humble Pi: When Math Goes Wrong in the Real World" by Matt Parker.

"(Parker's book) is funny and entertaining, even if math is not one of your best skills," Pearson said.
