

Astor Street Opry Company to host outdoor "Shanghaied"

ASTORIA — Astoria Street Opry Company will host an outdoor showing of "Shanghaied in Astoria" at 8 p.m. Friday at 129 W. Bond St.

Attendees will watch portions of last year's show on the company's movie screen outside its theater. Some live performances will be held too. Attendees will also be able to listen to the show from their cars through their radio stations.

Beer, wine, hot dogs, sausages and popcorn will be available to purchase with cash. Some chairs will be available to sit in but attendees are encouraged to bring their own chairs.

Attendees will be expected to follow social distancing guidelines. The show will be held weather permitting. If the show gets canceled, the group will update its Facebook page.

Hoffman Center Gallery opens new show

MANZANITA — Hoffman Center Gallery will host regional artists for its August art show, on display from 1 to 5 p.m. Thursday through Sunday at the gallery, 594 Laneda Ave.

Artists Lloyd Lindley, Dorothy Holmes Mohler and Bev Cordova will be featured. Clay art by other artists will also be displayed.

Cordova's featured pieces will include "clay vessels." She came to Oregon as a young adult and earned her bachelor's of fine arts degree from Portland State University. Cordova has lived on the North Coast since retiring from a teaching career.

Holmes Mohler will showcase paintings in her exhibit, "Waiting For a New Normal." The collection features paintings of women with flowers, which she completed in winter. Other art included represents Holmes Mohler's interpretations of the coronavirus pandemic, as she's continued to paint in recent months. The combination showcases her artistry before and during the pandemic. Holmes Mohler lives on the coast.

Lindley will showcase his exhibit, "The Whole of the Donut." The collection explores Lindley's experiences of the 1970s, plus "the drug-fueled psychedelic cartooning of R. Crumb." Lindley's paintings create an alternative reality and explore the decisions he has made in life. He now lives in Manzanita.

Clatsop Community College seeks tutors

ASTORIA — Clatsop Community College's volunteer literacy program is seeking tutors to work remotely with students.

Volunteers will work with adult students, most of whom are second language learners. Volunteers are expected to meet with students once or twice a week for about an hour.

A coordinator will prepare volunteers to work with students and provide volunteers with study materials. Volunteer training is available.

Volunteers need to have a camera and microphone.

To sign up, contact Eileen Purcell at 503-338-2557 or epurcell@clatsopcc.edu.
