

KMUN radio receives COVID-19 relief grant

The Astorian

Local noncommercial radio station KMUN was awarded a COVID-19 relief grant of $11,000 from the Oregon Community Foundation. The grant was secured in late July.

KMUN, which operates independently, works on a tight budget. Income to the station from businesses has decreased by 50%.

"A lot of organizations are in need right now," station manager Graham

Nystrom said. "We're honored and grateful that OCF acknowledges the vitality of our services by supporting us with COVID relief funding during this difficult time."

KMUN has been able to keep playlists and personalities by shifting programmers from in-studio broadcasting to mobile recording studios, and to bring back longtime morning host Kathleen Morgain to cover news in Washington state.

Hall joins virtual FFA conference

The Astorian

Astorian Charlie Hall, regional vice president of the Oregon FFA Alumni, recently joined a virtual development conference and training, hosted by the national FFA organization for alumni and supporters, to help determine how to better support agricultural education and local FFA chapters.

The conference also allowed alumni members to network and share local visions of innovation with other members across the country. For information, go to ffa.org/alumni or follow the Astoria FFA chapter on social media.
