

LEFT: Lee and Melinda Crowley's Long Beach, Washington, garden. RIGHT: A blooming flower from Warrenton resident Leila Collier's garden.

In Long Beach, Washington, Barb Mosher covered septic mounds with $5 worth of flower seeds. '(The) resident doe dines daily and gets her beauty sleep in the flower beds,' Mosher said.

LEFT: Bonnie Lou Cozby uses a 'hands-off' approach to managing her Ocean Park, Washington, garden. 'Bare branches make wonderful roosts for our many crows,' Cozby said. RIGHT: A sunflower bud photographed by Astoria resident Timothy Green.

LEFT: Brownsmead resident Tory Sutherland's garden. 'I have always wanted to grow a pumpkin trellis and this is the year. It makes a perfect garden fort for my two grandkids to play in,' Sutherland said. RIGHT: Seaside resident Sue Kronig's garden. 'Spending more time working in my garden during the pandemic has only deepened my love for its beauty and peace,' she said.

marie POWELL GALLERY

ORIGINAL FINE ART

on the waterfront
port of ilwaco, wa

marie-powell.com
360-244-0800