Seaside High School hosts virtual play

SEASIDE — Seaside High School will feature its first 2021 virtual production, “Game of Tiaras: A Stay-At-Home Play” from Friday to Feb. 18.

The show, by Don Zolidis, combines “the gut-wrenching plot twists of ‘Game of Thrones’ and the soul-numbing despair of Shakespearean tragedy.” The show will “leave you dying with laughter as the body count mounts. When you play the Game of Tiaras, you win or you die.”

Students in grades 6 through 12 will be featured. Starring cast include Lucas Ethridge, Elizabeth Jesberger, Gracie Klemp, Kaiya Taylor, Sophia Reynolds, Abigail Sills, Lilli Taylor, Riley Wunderlich and Parker Davis. The play is directed and produced by Seaside High School teacher Susan Baertlein.

Show tickets cost $10 for individuals or $20 per household. Tickets are available at bit.ly/2NSmWDW until midnight on Feb. 18.

Lower Nehalem Watershed Council will host a lecture about local meadows.

Lecture to focus on local meadows

NEHALEM — Lower Nehalem Watershed Council will host a lecture on Oregon’s coastal meadows at 7 p.m. Thursday at lnwc.nehalem.org.

Researcher Braden Elliot will host the lecture, titled “Past and Present of Small Meadows in the Coast Range.” The talk will help listeners envision a more complete picture of local environments.

The meeting is part of the council’s online speaker series. Upcoming events will also be held March 18, April 8 and May 3.
