

JOIN COAST WEEKEND'S MONTHLY BOOK CLUB

By ALYSSA EVANS
The Astorian

Looking to learn about regional authors and books? Join Coast Weekend for a monthly book discussion, featuring local authors.

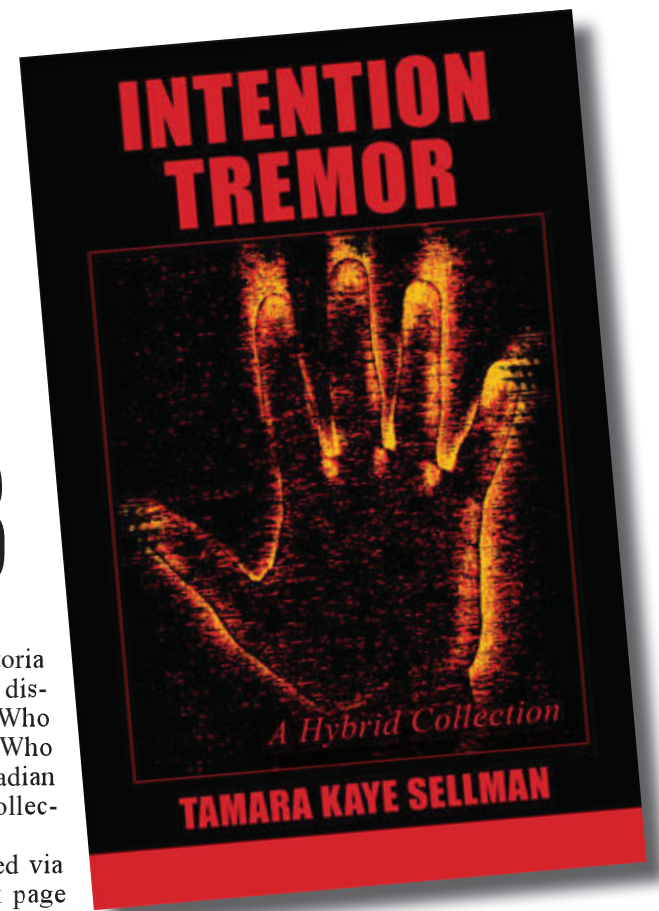

Each event features a live video interview with an author, followed by a Q&A session for attendees to ask the author questions.

At 6 p.m. on Wednesday, author Tamara Kaye Sellman will discuss her book "Intention Tremor," which features poetry and prose about living with multiple sclerosis.

On May 5, author Brooke Smith will discuss her book "The Keeper of Wild Words." Smith is a poet and children's book author who lives in Bend. Her book tells the story of a grandmother and granddaughter who explore nature and language together.

On June 2 at 7 p.m., Astoria author Florence Sage will discuss her book "The Man Who Whistled, The Woman Who Wished: A Polish-Canadian Story," which is a poetry collection inspired by her family.

Each event can be viewed via Coast Weekend's Facebook page or on Zoom. Visit coastweekend.com for more information.
