Peninsula Players actors will perform in an upcoming series of virtual shows.

Ilwaco actors to host virtual show

Ilwaco Timberland Regional Library and the Peninsula Players will host a virtual show at 7 p.m. Thursday via Zoom. Register online at events.trl.org for the Zoom link.

The show will be an “after dinner story time for adults.” Seasoned theater actors will entertain viewers with stories and poems that are close to the actors’ hearts.

The Peninsula Players typically stage three to five shows per year at the River City Theater in Ilwaco, Washington, but haven’t been able to perform since early 2020 because of the coronavirus pandemic.

Another show will be held at 7 p.m. on June 24.

Previous campers from Lewis and Clark National Historical Park’s program.

Registration open for youth camp

ASTORIA — Registration is open for a nature survival camp hosted by Lewis and Clark National Historical Park. To register, email lewi\_education@nps.gov

The camp will be held online daily from 9 a.m. to noon July 12 through July 16. The camp is open to youth entering fourth through ninth grade.

Campers will be led by counselors through activities that they can complete at home.

Registration for the camp is free but an optional activity pack with supplies for each day’s events is $50. Registration is limited to 25 campers. Participants should have internet access.
