

The Coaster makes a comeback

Theater schedules 2021 productions

BY RAY GARCIA

After a year without any in-house shows, the Coaster Theatre Playhouse plans to reopen its doors to the public for part of its 2021 season.

The theater is working on several productions this year, including a collection of scenes and sonnets from William Shakespeare; a home-grown mystery; a classic drama; and a community-written, radio-style Charles Dickens project.

The theater had to cancel many of its shows that were planned for 2020 because of the coronavirus. The last in-house show the theater hosted was its production of "A Bench in the Sun" in February 2020.

"We only did one of our 2020-slotted shows last year," said Jenni Tronier, the theater's marketing and operations director. "We normally do seven shows in a traditional season and we only did one."

See Page 7

Actors perform 'Shakespeare in the Park' in 2020.

North Coast Chorale hopes you join us for A Belated 30th Anniversary!

Dr. Denise Reed, Director

Performing many genres of music and featuring well-known bass, Deac Guidi

June 11, 12 & 13, 2021

Fri. 7 pm, Sat. 7 pm, & Sun. 4 pm

Purchase tickets on PAC website ONLY:
www.partnersforthepac.org

For audience safety, online ticket sales ONLY
50 tickets per performance

A scene from the theater's 2020 show, 'A Bench in the Sun.'

Actors during the theater's 2019 show 'Nunsense.'