DOWNTOWN EVENT TO CELEBRATE LOCAL BUSINESSES

BY ZOË BUCHLI

An upcoming event will bring local residents to downtown Astoria to celebrate the reopening of local businesses.

Friday will mark the first AstoriUS Day. During the event, community members can shop at small businesses and participate in special events. The Astoria Downtown Historical District Association is the event's host.

AstoriUS Day is a little different from a typical walk-and-shop style of event, said Shelby Meyers, Astoria Downtown Historic District Association's marketing manager. Stores will take part in AstoriUS Day through a variety of different ways, each offering some sort of promotion or event specific to their business.

"We wanted to have a celebration to bring people back downtown," Meyers said.

One Hundred Years on the Seaside Prom

WIN this beautiful quilted collage textile artwork created specially for the Seaside Prom's Centennial. More than 200 different fabrics, 50 different type of beads and colors of thread, and 15 quilting patterns create the scenes. Each 40"x20" panel spans 33-35 years of the Prom's life including photos from those eras. With more than 1300 hours of labor, this is a one-of-kind masterpiece. (Artwork is copyrighted by Museum.) Winning ticket will be drawn at noon August 8, 2021 at the Seaside Museum. Need not be present to win. Winner can pick up or shipping can be arranged at winner's expense.
