

Sankta Lucia festival set for Friday

ASTORIA — The Astoria Scandinavian Heritage Association will present the 2021 Sankta Lucia Festival of Lights at 7 p.m. on Friday at the Astoria High School auditorium. All are welcome.

Masks are required and admission is $1 or $5 for a family. Proceeds go to the Scandinavian Festival scholarship fund.

This holiday traditionally opens up the seasonal festivities in several Nordic countries.

People are invited to sing carols and experience the procession of this year's Lucia Bride, Grace Maier, and her attendants.

Sankta Lucia will declare the Christmas season open.

Refreshments will be provided by the Sons and Daughters of Norway.

Live music for dancing will be provided by The Polka Dots, a local music group.

Coaster Theatre presents 'A Christmas Carol'

The cast of 'A Christmas Carol' at the Coaster Theatre.

CANNON BEACH — The Coaster Theatre Playhouse is presenting the holiday classic "A Christmas Carol" this weekend.

The production is a radio-style play written, workshopped and performed by the theater community.

The adaptation is set in 1936, during a turbulent time in American history. The timeless story reminds audiences to honor the spirit of Christmas all year.

Performances are scheduled for Fridays and Saturdays from now until Dec. 18.

Tickets can be purchased online or at the box office or by calling 503-436-1242.

Audience members need to show proof of COVID-19 vaccination and wear a face covering.

'Deck the Hall' kicks off in Skamokawa

SKAMOKAWA — Friends of Skamokawa River Life Interpretive Center will kick off their "Deck the Hall" open house series Saturday.

The open house events will continue Fridays through Sundays until Dec. 12 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Vendors who wish to participate should fill out an application and contact the center.

More information is available at friendsof-skamokawa.org.
