Multiple honors for Astoria softball

The Astorian

Numerous players picked up awards this season on the annual Cowapa all-league softball team, as voted on by the league's coaches.

The Player of the Year honor went to Astoria freshman Maddie Wilkin; the Designated Players of the Year were Emilie Eddy of Valley Catholic and Tillamook's Ashlyn Mattson; and Wilkin was also the Pitcher of the Year.

Astoria's Junior Israel and his staff of Korie Blacker, Libby Di Bartolomeo and Lou Marconeri were named Coaches of the Year.

In addition to Wilkin, Astoria had seven other players earn all-league honors. Seaside landed five players on the all-league squad.

With three freshmen on the first team and two sophomore honorable mentions, the Lady Fish could be the dominant team in the Cowapa League for the next several years, after advancing to the 2022 state quarterfinals.

Astoria won the league title with a 12-0 league record, well ahead of Valley Catholic (8-4) and Banks (5-7), both of which drop to the 3A level next season.

Astoria defeated Corbett 7-0 in a first round game, before dropping a 3-0 decision to Stayton in the quarterfinals, the program's first appearance in the final eight since 1983.

Under coach Tom Wilson, the Astoria softball team made the state playoffs in 1982 and 1983, when the Oregon School Activities Association had just two levels (AAA and AA-A).

Playing a schedule of big school opponents, the Lady Fishermen of 1983 defeated Sheridan 4-2 in a first round game, before an 8-2 loss to La Salle in the quarterfinals.

Thomas Nesbitt Burgess Jr. Charlotte, North Carolina Dec. 27, 1936 — April 21, 2022

Author, artist, activist, aquanaut. Thomas Nesbitt Burgess Jr., a former Astoria resident, has passed away peacefully in Charlotte, North Carolina, where he grew up.

Thomas Burgess Jr.

The son of Thomas N. Burgess Sr. and Haelean Proctor Burgess, he is survived by his brother, John C. Burgess, and his wife, Mikki Burgess, and three nephews, John Jr., Stephen and Jeremy. He is also survived by his longtime companion and Astoria resident, Rosalyn Edelson.

Tom's vocation was advertising, as a creative director for several of the industry's top agencies. An avid scuba diver and certified hard hat diver, he combined his creative talent with his love for the sea to advocate for protections for the oceans and the oceans' inhabitants.

He authored, in addition to his other writings, "Take Me Under the Sea," a definitive work encompassing the history of undersea art, photography and early motion picture production.

He was a frequent contributor to Historical Diving Society's worldwide publication, and a sometimes unconventional contributor to The Daily Astorian.

Tom served in the U.S. Navy Reserve as a cryptographer. As he wished, his ashes will be scattered at sea.

In lieu of flowers and condolences, do something positive for the oceans, which support all life on this planet. We suggest the Oceanic Preservation Society or an environmental charity of your choice.

Warriors top Tillamook, 10-9

The Astorian

A walk-off double by Warrenton's Dawson Little in the bottom of the seventh capped a wild baseball game on Monday at Warrenton, where the Warriors scored a 10-9 win over Tillamook in a 17U contest.

Each team had seven hits, while Tillamook rallied to tie the game at 9-9 in the top of the seventh.

In Warrenton's half of the seventh, Dylan Atwood was hit by a pitch with two outs, and scored all the way from first on Little's game-winning hit.

OBITUARY POLICY

The Astorian publishes paid obituaries. The obituary can include a small photo and, for veterans, a flag symbol at no charge. The deadline for all obituaries is 9 a.m. the business day prior.

Obituaries may be edited for spelling, proper punctuation and style. Death notices and upcoming services will be published at no charge. Notices must be submitted by 9 a.m. the day before publication.

Obituaries and notices may be submitted online at DailyAstorian.com/obituaries, by email at ewilson@dailyastorian.com, placed via the funeral home or in person at The Astorian office, 949 Exchange St. in Astoria.
