

COTTAGES BY THE SEA

Cottage & Garden Tour to focus on Presidential Streets neighborhood

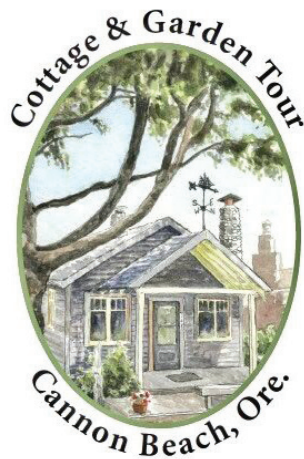

BY LISSA BREWER

At the Cannon Beach cottage of Pat and Craig Tulip, a blue Craftsman-style bungalow nestled against a tall row of hemlock and pine trees, not a single object is out of place.

Not the white wicker tea cart and blooming rose bushes adorning the Southern-style front porch, or Mittens, the couple's tuxedo cat, resting in the living room on a folded blanket next to a row of books. Not the carefully placed shell collections and coordinated pastels. "I love French antiques," Pat said, scanning shelves in the living room. "So I have French altar sticks, candlesticks on the mantel."

Stepping through a set of doors into the garden, Pat made her way to a second cottage, a "she-shed"
