COMMUNICATED
The Oregon Lumber Co. Mr. Lucas and Mr. Marshall.

Impression having gone out that through a letter I had written to be published in the Glacier (but refused by it because the publisher said he did not wish to antagonize the Oregon Lumber Co.) doing our assessor great injustice I wish to disabuse the notion that the letter was personal to anyone. It simply stated facts that existed at that time, and was for the purpose of arriving at an equitable adjustment of the taxation of lands in the Upper Valley. During this time I had talks with Mr. Lucas and his one purpose was to do the fair thing by all concerned. I had supposed that the matter had dropped. Owing to the fact, however, that an article was recently published in the Journal distorting the facts the letter, which is as follows, is published below:
To The Taxpayers of Hood River County:

It will soon be time for the Board of Equalization to meet, the first Monday in October, to adjust differences and errors which may have occurred in making up the assessment. I, myself, have a "growl" and as it affects every taxpayer in the county, I write an open letter as many may not hear of it in any other way.

I live in the South part of Hood River valley, known as the Upper Valley. Mr. Dimmick was the deputy assessor in that district. His instructions, so he told me, was to assess all individual holdings, but that the Lumber Co.'s property was to be assessed by Mr. Lucas, the assessor, himself. He knew of no reason why this be should so, but as he was instructed to put in young orchards, not bearing, at $250.00 per acre and cleared land at from $25.00 to $50.00 per acre, it occurred to me there might be a very good reason.

It will be several years before most of the young orchards will bring in revenue. It will also be the millennium before any of the individual holders of timber land will get a revenue from their holdings, and if they cut it down and burn it up as they will have to do if they get their land cleared, what is the incentive, as it immediately comes into the high valuation class without revenue? With the Lumber Co. it is different. Their lands are producing revenue. They only took the best timber when they made their selections, and as they cut it off they not only get the crop of timber but from $75 to $100 per acre for their land, and yet I will venture the statement that I do not believe they are assessed $50 per acre on any timbered land they own.

As an illustration of the situation, last fall I sold to a Mr. A. W. Stone 45 acres of timber land within two miles of the Lumber Co.'s mill. Today he has 25 acres of fine young orchard on it and he is clearing up the balance. On what he has cleared he got nearly a thousand cords of wood. He can't dispose of his wood at any profit, and as the Mill Co. would not take his timber he is burning up everything on the balance of the land he is clearing, and as soon as this is done it will immediately enter the $250 class for taxation purposes. Now the land adjoining him belongs to the Lumber Company and has a fine crop in sight, and as soon as it is removed the land is salable at $100 per acre; at least it will be unless people are compelled to find out that by buying this land they, with land already cleared throughout the valley, will stand an undue proportion of the taxes. W. H. MARSHALL.
