Get Acquainted With Neighbor Trust
The neighbors meeting Friday night at Rev. Hershner's was a pleasant one in spite of the snow storm.
There were over forty present and as the theme of the evening was Hood River, past, present and future, interesting papers were read by S. F.
Blythe, R. E. Harbison, J. G. Gessling and not less entertaining talks by Professor Cond, Rev. Monosmith, E. R. Bradley, S. E. Bartness, Leslie Butler, Mr. Bishop and others with French recitation by Mrs. J. W. Armstrong, recitation by little Blanch Campbell and vocal and instrumental music by Dr. Edgington and girls, closing with a good night trio by the Misses Harbison.

The welcome of Rev. and Mrs.
Hershner was earnest and the greeting of the neighbors most pleasant.
The meeting will be remembered as bearing the Hood River fruit stamp.
None better. The next meeting will be at the residence of F. A. Bishop next Friday night.

The Last Great Prize.
As we grow older and the shadows begin to lengthen and the leaves which seemed so thick in youth above our heads grow thin and show the sky beyond, and as those in the ranks in front drop away, and we come in sight, as we all must, of the eternal rifts beyond, a man begins to feel that among the really precious things of life, more lasting and more substantial than many of the objects of ambition here, is the love of those he loves and the friendship of those whose friendship he prizes.—Henry Cabot Lodge.

No Boxes For Two.
Telephone girls sometimes glory in their mistakes if there is a joke in consequence. The story is told by a telephone operator in one of the Boston exchanges about a man who asked her for the number of a local theater. He got the wrong number, and without asking to whom he was talking he said, "Can I get a box for two tonight?"

A startled voice answered him at the other end of the line, "We don't have boxes for two."

"Isn't this the — theater?" he called crossly.

"Why, no," was the answer, "this is an undertaking shop."

He canceled his order for a "box for two."

Something Missing.
This is J. M. Barrie's favorite story about Bret Harte. When Harte reached Glasgow after his appointment as the American consul to that city his finances were at a comparatively low ebb, and instead of going at first to a hotel he found it expedient to seek lodgings at once. His search led him to a dour Scotch landlady, arrangements were made, and after leaving his belongings in his new home he went out to look after his official duties. Upon his return that evening he was met by the landlady. Her attitude was stern and questioning. "I've been looking over your belongings, Mr.
Harte," she said, "but whaur's your Bible?"—Bookman.

One on the Professor.
One sarcastic college lecturer has got his deserts. A frequently inattentive member of his class appeared to be drawing in his notebook—perhaps a caricature of the instructor.

The lecturer paused and asked impressively, "Do you think that scribbling you are doing is important?"

"I don't know sir, I'm sure," responded the youth. "I was taking down what you were saying."
