McKenzie's Merry Widow Company opened a week's engagement here Monday and are giving excellent satisfaction. This is the company that played a one night's engagement here several weeks ago and highly pleased a good sized audience. The plays put on by the McKenzie Company are not of the problem order, being pure, wholesome and amusing as well as entertaining. In addition to the play each evening specialties are given between the acts that can be pronounced without hesitation good. The company has an orchestra with it that is well worth hearing.

Miss Mollie Stickney, graduate of a prominent Chicago kindergarten school, opened a kindergarten class here Monday in the basement of the Unitarian church. Miss Stickney had been in Seattle for some time and only recently came to Hood River. She is said to be very competent in kindergarten work and very much interested in it. At present she is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Osborne, who are friends of long standing, having known her in Sioux City, Ia.

Dr. Stanton Allen, after a seven months' absence in his former home in Milwaukee, Wis., returned to Hood River Saturday. Dr. Allen reports an exceedingly severe winter in Milwaukee with 12 inches of solid ice on the streets of that city when he left there recently. Mrs. Allen, who came west with him, stopped off at Seattle to visit relatives and join Mrs. and Miss McLaren, who have been staying there this winter. Dr. Allen is interested in an electrical controlling device for streetcars that is said to be the best in use and the company which owns it has been offered a large amount to turn it over to one of the largest manufacturing concerns in the United States. The company believes, however, that it is worth more than it has been offered and has decided to retain it for a higher figure. He states that Hood River's claim to big money in the fruit raising business are modest beside some of those he heard of from other sections while in Milwaukee.

Mrs. Hattie Gabriel, a resident of Hood River for nine years left Thursday to make her home at Girard Kansas.
