

Water Works on the Farm

Yes, that's just what we mean—real water works; running water in the kitchen, the bathroom, the laundry, the barn—in fact, all over the place. And it's all done by that tank you see in the lower left hand corner of this picture—the Leader System. It's vastly different from the old-fashioned elevated tank which worked by gravity. For the Leader Water Supply System is operated by compressed air—reliable, safe and clean. Your windmill pumps water into the tank (which is already full of air). The air, being elastic, is compressed into upper part of the tank, and forces the water out through the pipes.

This gives you a pressure, so that a powerful stream of water is on tap at every faucet, no matter where it is located. And this means absolute fire-protection, for the pressure is always on and always ready.

Now, the old style gravity tanks were either put in the attic or situated on a high tower out of doors.

In the former case, their weight when full, cracked the plastering; or they overflowed or leaked, flooding the rooms below.

In the case of the outside tanks, the water often froze solid in winter, necessitating expensive plumbing bills; or it became hot and stagnant during the summer and unfit for use. The avoids all this, because the air-tight tank is either in the basement or buried underground below the frost line. Every outfit is complete, with full directions, and is easily installed. The Leader System needs no repairs, is suited to small buildings or large, and is moderate in price.

Let us send you our free booklet, "How I Solved the Water Supply Problem," the story of a man who successfully equipped his country home with modern water works.

JOLLY UNCLE JOSHUA

delicious puff. Lane & Kent take great pride to keep that cigar up to the highest standard, and consequently it grows more popular every day. Charley was so well pleased with the cigar Uncle Josh treated him to that he bought a whole box and advised his friends to do the same thing, not forgetting to also make a note of the many other fine brands.

"And now, young man, let me give you a pointer," remarked the generous old uncle. "Do not understand me to say that clothes make the man, but I do affirm that clean and spotless linen makes the nice appearing man. Now, in this connection I am happy to inform you that the Hood River Steam Laundry is one of the best laundries in the state. Polly will want her lace curtains washed this spring, and its a ticklish job, you know, but the Hood River laundry is so very careful that the most delicate fabrics are washed without the slightest injury, and at a nominal figure too. Schaffner & Adams, the proprietors, will see that your collars, cuffs and shirts are made white as snow, unless they happen to be colored, but then you needn't be afraid of a fade, for they pride themselves on doing colored goods satisfactorily."

"But look here, Uncle," interrupted the young man as they reached the street, "what about wood? We've got the stoves, but I reckon they won't be of much service without fuel. We can't keep fire on love alone, can we?" "Glad you mentioned it," replied Uncle Josh, "buying so much in one day kinder befuddles a fellow. Fortunately, however, it's only a little distance to the Taft Transfer Company. They are my favorite dealers and handle a wood that has no superiors and few equals."

Having left the last mentioned place and passing over to Columbia avenue and Sixth street, the bicycle display of L. E. Foust next caught the fair Polly's eye, and she insisted upon an examination of the entire big stock of silent steeds. Here again Uncle Josh displayed his benign generosity by investing in a lady's Rambler for his idol, a Rambler for her other and superior half, the merits of which he declared were world wide, but he "got down" his foot with a vengeance on the bloomer accompaniment. "No, sir-ee," he said, "you can't come any of that 'new wimmen' business on me. You'll look stunnin' enough on that Rambler without dressin' up in bloomers." Foust also has the agency for the Rambler automobile, the best on earth, and does repairing of all kinds.

"Well, I'll swan," laughingly broke in the old man again, "I guess I'll just get myself a few wheels, while we are about it, but of another kind from yours, yet equally as good for the purpose intended. I need a sprayer, I always did contend that first class machinery was necessary to first class work and I know of no sprayer that can beat the Hardie for simplicity and all around satisfaction. A fellow don't have to be sending for an expert to fix 'em right at the most precious moment. The Gilbert-Vaughan Implement Company is the general agent here for the Hardie and I tell you what they're a good firm to tie to. I'll just drop in and tell them I've decided upon a Hardie."

"Yes, and we must have ice for the refrigerator, Uncle," broke in Charley. "A 'heat reducer' is almost as essential as a 'heat producer,' you know." "Well, I reckon your'e about right," laughingly replied the old gentleman, "but I can attend to the ice business about as quick as you can say 'Jack Robinson.' The Taft Transfer Co. makes a specialty of supplying families, and will put the congealed water right into your refrigerator, so Polly won't even need to get her fingers wet. Mr. Taft told me the other day that they have a very fine quality of ice this year. Come along while I leave an order."

"How about the plumber, Uncle?" inquired Polly. "You remember you said you would see somebody for that." "Jes' so, jes' so; and we shan't have any botcher do the work, either. I'll go look for Gould & Snyder. We've got to have gas and water pipes put in, a hot water heater and porcelain bath tub, besides some sanitary fixin's, and this is the firm to do the work. They oblige serve closely all the hygienic laws against dangers from sewer gases. You can always feel safe about the house when practical men as I know Gould & Snyder to be, have done the work." The aforesaid plumbers got the contract, did just what Uncle Josh said they would do and won Polly's praise for their excellent workmanship.

"Land sakes!" suddenly exclaimed Uncle Josh, "all this trading and shopping round town has caused me to forget one of the greatest essentials to future existence. I have heard it said that newly married folks could live on love and scenery, but an old man of my experience knows better—your table would look slim without bread; it's the 'staff of life,' you know. Polly, you must meet H. E. Gibson, proprietor of the Royal bakery. His bread, pies and cakes and nick-nacks are conceded by all to be the finest on earth. Remember, Charley, there is no use of your 'ootsy tootsy' bothering herself much about baking so long as there is a good baker in town like Gibson. When you give your reception call at the Royal bakery for the fancy cakes and other good things."

"Yes, and while we are on this important topic of gastronomies, we must not forget meat. It goes hand in hand with bread. Now to locate a meat market where you can get fresh, wholesome meats at all times. The Hood River Market is the firm to supply you. This is the boss meat market in the city, and is popular with everybody who is particular to have the best. The reason for this is all because the Hood River market is very careful in the selection of stock and gets the freshest of everything, and keeps nothing but the very best. To keep your 'hubby' in good humor, Polly, trade at the Hood River Market every time."

Enroute to their home the party called at the News office. "You'll want the News every week," remarked Uncle Josh, "and as this is the favorite paper here, I'll subscribe."

STRAWBERRY GROWERS

Of Hood River Valley

IN A FEW WEEKS, almost before you know it, the BERRY SEASON will be at hand, and from all reports the crop will be a large one.

The Apple Growers Union will ship berries this year, and with its splendid storage equipment and shipping facilities will be in position to help you get the best possible returns for your crop.

We want your business, and in favoring us you will also help yourselves by building up an institution that is owned and controlled exclusively by growers of Hood River Fruit.

APPLE GROWERS UNION

SAY, MR. LAND-BUYER,

Did you know that "Underwood" and "Hood River" are in the same Township and Range, and that the two depots are only one and one-fourth miles apart? Stop and think what this means--Soil, Climate and natural conditions absolutely identical.

Our side of the river is "new" so far as development is concerned. We need more people. We need you, especially if you are willing to take the raw land and improve it,—so if you find that you haven't the price for an orchard in Hood River, come over and give us a chance to show you what we have. You will find that a dollar will go very much further toward buying an acre of land here, than it will in any of our neighboring districts. Write or phone me and I will see that you are met at the depot or dock.
