UNDERWOOD

The Underwood Livery can now furnish as neat a turnout as can be found and they are busy all the time.

Mrs. P. I. Packard returned Tuesday from Portland where she has been attending her sister, who is, at present, in the hospital.

The Underwood school have a fine new flag and a new flag pole and the children take great pride in seeing the unfurling of "Old Glory."

G. A. Cooper and family are spending Sunday at the ranch, where G. A. has been busy counting the blossoms on his young trees. They look good to him.

Harry Cummins, of Hood River, was over Saturday to prepare for the arrival of some more of the Sioux City colony, who are expected any day now.

The Underwood Union will handle strawberries this season, and are making preparations for handling a fine lot of berries, which will be much earlier than usual, if the present weather continues. The outlook for the apple crop is exceptionally good, both as to quality and quantity.

R. P. Ballard and Roy Wilson, of Seattle, who together with Dr. Geary, own 120 acres of the Emile Walther place, have been at the ranch for the past few days looking after the planting of the first lot of trees. They seem to have transplanted some of the "Seattle spirit" to the proposition here, and are setting a pace that is going to be hard to follow in the line of making improvements.

The Apple Growers Union, of the White Salmon Valley, held a meeting at the Cameron schoolhouse this week and it was decided to erect a part of the ware house that they have been prepared to build for some time, but which various things have conspired to delay. This building, which will be used for a shipping room later on, will be 25x50. Plans and specifications can be seen at the Underwood store and for the next ten days the directors will receive bids from any responsible party for the erection of the building.

C. U. Brunton, representing the Dement Bros. Milling Co., of Walla Walla, was in Underwood Monday to close up deals for the site for the Mill which they plan to erect at this point. We understand that all arrangements are now complete and Mr. Brunton will go East at once to order equipment for the power plant, which will be located about three miles up the White Salmon River on the R. D. Cameron property. A dam 80 feet in height will be built which will furnish several thousand horse power, a great deal more than will be needed for the mill, and with so much cheap power to be had, we expect that other industries will be attracted to this point, which is the only one on the river where both rail and water transportation can be had from the same building unless it is at Lyle.

A Doggone Tale

The chief of police of Vancouver has made arrangements with F. P. Friday, of Hood River, whereby all untagged dogs caught on the streets are shipped to Mr. Friday, who feeds their flesh to the fish in his hatchery and tans their pelts for the market. Here is a chance for Stevenson. Let the city Marshal make arrangements with Mr. Friday at once. He could send him a couple of hundred dogs on short notice, or else collect the tax. Let not the opportunity escape. If the man Friday wants dogs let us supply his wants.—Skamania Pioneer.

Prohibition Committee Meeting

At a called meeting held in the Commercial Club room May 2 a number of citizens met to consider state wide prohibition and county organization. State Chairman J. P. Newell of Portland was present and addressed the meeting. A temporary organization was effected with Leslie Butler chairman and C. A. Nutley secretary and treasurer. A committee was appointed to arrange for the coming of Clinton N. Howard of New York, who is one of the noted prohibition speakers of the country.
