Monarch Malleable Ranges have polished malleable iron tops, require no blacking. Do not break, warp or crack, are thin and heat through quickly.*

Mrs. H. F. Davidson and Miss Mae Davidson met the Oregon delegates to the Federation of Woman's Clubs who passed through here Thursday and presented them with flowers and a basket of apples. The delegates were on their way to Cincinnati, where the convention will be held this year.

We note with much interest the way some of our enterprising local dealers are putting forth every effort this spring to make their stores attractive. This week E. A. Franz, whose progressive policy has been strongly shown this spring by their large attractive advertisements in our columns, have a fine window devoted to house paints. On close inspection one finds not only the usual display of paint cans, but long rows of houses in new and handsome combinations of colors for exterior paintings. An attractive window border brightens the appearance of the whole store and draws much attention from passers-by. It attractively illustrates how easily and well any shabby surface in or about the home can be fixed up. E. A. Franz deserves much credit for this window and we are sure it will be of much benefit in reminding people of the many things around their homes that can easily be beautified at house cleaning time.*

EDMUND HALLEY.

Son of a Soap Boiler Who Became a Famous Astronomer.

The return of Halley's comet has naturally aroused much interest in the man after whom it was named and who predicted that it would come back again.

Edmund Halley was the son of a soap boiler. Educated at St. Paul's school and Queen's college, Oxford, he began in early youth to study astronomy. His fame rests chiefly on his knowledge of comets and especially on the fact that he inferred that the so called comets of 1531, 1607 and 1682 were the same body and that it would reappear in 1758, a prediction that came true. From that day the comet in question has been known as Halley's. The bust shown is by Henry Pegram and is in the Haggerston Branch library of the borough of Shoreditch, England.

It is open to speculation what part the present visit will play in our history. Will Halley's comet take a hand in the investigations and strikes, or is it a tariff reformer or no, or will it join the ranks of the suffragettes? If only it would lend its gorgeous tail and allow "Votes For Women" to be blazoned upon it, what a splendid sky sign it would be!

TRAINING A PUGILIST.

Knights of the Mitt Insist on Modern Conveniences.

When Corbett once started training for a battle in the ring he came in after his first run on the road and demanded to know where the bathtub was located. They took him around to the back of the building and pointed out a big rain barrel about half full of black water, and then the carnage began. "Pompadour Jim" thrashed every man around the place regardless of age, color or size, and when the excitement had died down a bit he said: "D'ye think I'm a pollywog or a bullfrog to take a chance in a thing like that? I'm a gentleman, I am, and I propose to bathe like one too! Send for a gentleman's tub at once!"

Jeffries' trainers and assistants, who have heard this story, are taking no chances with the big boiler-maker in this direction. Weeks ago a big bathtub was ordered, and the accompanying illustration shows it being hustled to his training quarters before there is a demand for it.

NEW BRENNAN CAR.

Inventor of Gyroscope Train Further Improves His System.

The many new improvements made recently in the Brennan gyroscope monorail car have brought that marvelous invention back into the limelight again, and the accompanying illustration will give one an interesting view of the underneath part of it.

A new car has just been built by the inventor, the system further improved, and the tests being made in London are attracting great attention. The mechanism by which it obtains its stability when running on a single rail consists of two gyroscope wheels which rotate at 3,000 revolutions per minute in opposite directions. In a recent test the car attained a speed of twenty miles an hour and ran satisfactorily throughout, taking curves of thirty-five feet radius with ease.

In the opinion of one of the scientists present the monorail is destined to revolutionize railway engineering.
