GOOD ROADS RALLY THURSDAY, MAY 26TH

As a result of the interest in good roads work for which so much is being accomplished in the state by the State Threshermen's Association, the office of Public Roads U. S. department of Agriculture recently tendered Secretary Bates, through Senator Bourne, a series of illustrated lectures and this county has been favored with one of the dates.

Philip S. Bates, the secretary of the State Threshermen Association, states that Mr. Eldridge has a most pleasing personality and is the equal of any good roads lecturer in the United States. Mr. Eldridge had charge of the exhibit of the office of Public Roads at the Alaska-Yukon exposition where he made many friends among the good road enthusiasts of the Pacific northwest.

Played Thirteen Innings One of the best ball games of the season was played here last Friday between the Hood River high school team and the Lincoln high school of Portland. It took thirteen innings to settle the title to supremacy, the visitors finally winning. The battery for the home team was Stockton and Shay.

LIVE LOCAL TOPICS Rev. H. J. Wood, pastor of the Belmont church, preached a sermon on "Halley's Comet" Sunday evening. This sermon is to be followed by others on The Stars, Christian Sunshine and Moonshine. Mr. Lloyd, of Portland, was here last week and adjusted the loss of the new garage. The claim was settled in full. This insurance was written by G. Y. Edwards & company two days previous to the fire. Miss Edith Andrews, who is employed in the office of the J. L. Henderson company, will shortly leave with her father, to spend the summer at her former home in North Dakota. During Miss Andrews' absence Miss Willis will fill her position. Mrs. Hall, wife of Albert S. Hall, manager of the Hood River Light and Power company, joined her husband here last week. NEW M. E. CHURCH WILL SEAT 800

Plans for the annex to the Methodist church, which will soon be commenced, are being prepared by R. B. Bartlett, the architect, and when completed the church will have the largest seating capacity in the county. The annex, which will be erected facing State street, will be 48x60 feet. Under it there will be a basement equipped with kitchen, dining room and a gymnasium and reading room for the young people. The front will be half stone veneer with half timbered gables. At the southwest corner an entrance will be provided and another at the side. The structure will be topped with a tower and will be lighted from three sides with large gothic windows. It will be ventilated from a main skylight placed in the central dome of the auditorium. The old building will be divided from the new structure by a big roll curtain which can be rolled back, throwing the two into one. The combined seating capacity will be 800.

R. J. McISAAC AND CO OPEN PARKDALE STORE

R. J. McIsaac & Co., who have just opened their big merchandise store at Parkdale, make an announcement to patrons in the Upper Valley in another column and state that they are now ready for business. The new firm will carry a full line of about everything the rancher needs, and being situated in a section of the valley that has not heretofore had the convenience of a big store, it is believed that it will do a good business. The announcement appears on page 12 and it will repay residents of that district to peruse it.

Cunning Entertains Trust Having been invited by a member her of the neighborhood Trust to attend their farewell dinner, which was held at the home of T. J. Cunningham on the heights, I went up the hill at about 7:00 o'clock. If I had been a stranger in the city I would have wondered where so many people were going, some by auto, some by wagon and others afoot. Some had trays of strawberries, others with baskets filled with good things. I learned later on that that was just a forerunner of the numerous good things going to the Trust. Some time later I had the pleasure of assisting in getting away with a few of the delectables. After dinner there were songs, recitations and impromptu speeches by the members, all of which were greatly enjoyed. Judging from the interest taken by every one, in the event, and the cordial good will shown by those present, a continuation of these trust busting meetings next winter will prove an interesting feature of the social life in Hood River. New Train Schedule

A new time table which becomes effective on the O. R. & N. today, gives Hood River seven trains daily, and the best service it has ever had. The new train that has been put on is the Spokane Flyer going east and the Portland Flyer going west. As several changes have been made in the train schedule, those having occasion to use the trains will do well to consult the new time card which is published in another column.
