PRINCETON'S BENEFACTOR.

Career of I. C. Wyman, Who Will End Millions to His Graduate School.

Isaac C. Wyman of Salem, Mass., who died recently at the age of eighty-two, bequeathed the bulk of his estate, which is estimated at between $2,000,000 and $10,000,000, to the graduate school of Princeton university as a memorial of Mr. Wyman's "lasting affection," as the will phrases it, for his alma mater.

Mr. Wyman was born in Marblehead, Mass., on Jan. 31, 1828. He was left an orphan at the age of seven years with a fortune of $80,000, in which his only brother, William, did not share. While a student at Princeton he borrowed money from his guardian and put through a successful speculative deal. After being graduated from Princeton in 1848 he went to Harvard Law school, from which he was graduated in 1850. For eleven years he practiced law and then gave it up to enter the real estate business exclusively. He operated on a large scale and purchased many thousands of acres of wooded western lands both in the United States and Canada. He never married.

Collecting antiques was his sole diversion, although he said he occasionally dissipated to the extent of reading a novel. He found money so easy to get that he frequently said that there must be something the matter with the poor.

Living on the southern border of Marblehead, Mr. Wyman used to say that he could walk to the northern border of the town without leaving his own land. He owned nearly two-thirds of the entire place. It is said that he owned property in every state in the Union. Once he added to a friend's statement to that effect:

"Yes, and I pay taxes to Spain and England as well."

Within ten years Mr. Wyman bought tax title to more than 20,000 acres of land in Maine. His favorite procedure in the west was to buy wooded land, sell the timber, usually for more than the price of the land, and keep the land. He frequently spoke of a coal mine, a silver mine and a railroad of which he was owner.

He continued his studies throughout life and was a Latin and Greek scholar as well as being versed in economics. He possessed a remarkable memory and could quote offhand the corporation or land laws of every state.

BIG PLAY CONGRESS.

Plans For Playground Association's Convention In Rochester, N. Y.

What is expected to be the biggest play congress ever held in the world will be in session at Rochester, N. Y., from June 7 to 11 under the auspices of the Playground Association of America. Nearly 3,000 invitations have been sent out, and more than 1,000 delegates, representing every state in the Union, will be present.

At the headquarters of the Playground association in New York it was said the other day:

"Every aspect of the play question is to be discussed at the congress, not merely the matter of school playgrounds. The recreation of the American people in general will be considered from every viewpoint. The moving picture problem will have an important place in the session, and John Collier of the People's Institute and head of the moving picture board of censors in New York city will address the congress. Likewise Mrs. Charles H. Isaacs, chairman of the committee on amusements and vacation resources of working girls, will discuss the public dance hall. Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes will talk on 'The Possibility of Believing the Monotony of Factory Work.' Ernest Thompson Seton, the author, will give us an address on 'The Message of the Indian and the Outdoor Life,' and Charles F. Campbell, one of the greatest authorities on the education of the blind in America, will show motion pictures of blind children actually playing football. A special session will be given to the subject of story telling to children."

Plenty of pleasant social diversion will be provided for the delegates. On June 11, the last day of the convention, the delegates themselves are to "play" together—go boating, swimming, tramping or whatever they wish. In the afternoon 10,000 children take part in a play festival to be held in the Genesee Valley park, and in the evening there will be a water carnival with fireworks and other illuminations.

Device to Displace Rubber Tires.

George Westinghouse of Pittsburgh has invented a device called the air spring to supersede the pneumatic tire. The air spring is a series of plungers working on air cushions placed under the corners of the frame of a vehicle. Each spring for an automobile is a cylinder about three inches in diameter and ten inches long. It is said by Mr. Westinghouse that an automobile fitted with solid steel tires and with the air springs rides more easily than does the rubber tired automobile of today.

New Tree Pest.

In a lecture delivered at the Bussey institute, in Boston, the other day Professor C. T. Brues of Harvard announced the discovery of the "shotgun beetle."

"The beetle has already destroyed many trees," said the professor, "and might be called the shotgun beetle from the round holes which the larvae pierce in the bark of elms after digging a perfect mass of tunnels under the bark, often completely girdling the trees."

Live Local Topics

A. S. Blowers spent Tuesday here visiting friends and relatives.

Sheriff Morse went to Wyeth Tuesday to serve some papers in a divorce case.

Mrs. J. P. Alpin of South Bellingham, Wash., arrived yesterday to visit friends in Hood River.

Yesterday was flag day, but we didn't see a flag. Where are we at? South Africa or the north pole?

Geo. Howe, city mail carrier on route 2 is taking his vacation and Herbert Phillips is acting as substitute.

Next Sunday evening at the Unitarian church F. A. Bishop will give a review of Ray Stannard Baker's book entitled "Spiritual Unrest."

The steamer Teal has changed her run and now comes up on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and goes down Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Sheriff Lou Morse is conducting the affairs of the sheriff's office alone at present, having decided not to appoint another deputy until the work of the office requires it.

Gene Bush spent last week in Portland attending the rose festival. He returned Saturday with the smile that wouldn't come off and is again enlivening the picture shows with his merry ha-ha's.

The wharfboat was moved yesterday from the foot of First street to the low water landing. The change is somewhat earlier than usual this year and residents regret to see it, as the coming of the big boats presents interesting scenes.

O. A. Perry of the Cooks Investment Co., and Cooks Mercantile Co., at Cooks, Wash. was here Thursday on a business trip. Mr. Perry is one of the men who is making the new North Bank town a factor in the industrial development of this section.

Willis Van Horn, who has been away from Hood River for six months, returned Saturday. Mr. Van Horn has been spending most of his time at his former home at Niagara Falls, where he and his brother, Burt Van Horn, have large orchard interests.

A team belonging to E. N. Armstrong caused considerable excitement Saturday afternoon by backing the vehicle they were attached to into the excavation for a sidewalk in front of Cram's store. The wagon was quite badly damaged but the horses escaped with little injury.

Carroll Smith has invested in a Hudson touring car which he purchased from the Gilbert-Vaughan Implement Company. C. S. True has also secured a Hudson of similar make. The Gilbert-Vaughan company sold four cars in three days last week, three of them through their ad in the News.

Portland fruit dealers evidently believe the name of Hood River is a magic one. During the Rose festival cherries displayed for sale in various parts of the city bore the label "Hood River Cherries." We wouldn't be surprised if one of the enterprising fruitmen there hung out a sign "Hood River Pineapples."

R. E. Harbison has purchased through the Gilbert-Vaughan Implement Company a Chalmers-Detroit automobile. Mr. Harbison has already mastered the machine and can be seen spinning about the city. The Gilbert-Vaughan Company have also sold a Cadillac thirty to J. C. Putnam of Mt. Hood.

Wanted Plenty of Room.

A solemn looking Irishman entered a business house and, walking up to one of the men employed on the lower floor, asked:

"Is there anny chaunst fer a mon t' get a job av wur-rk here?"

"I don't know," said the man.

"You'll have to see Mr. Hobart."

"An' phwere is he?"

"Up on the second floor," was the answer.

"Shall Oi walk up an' talk to him?"

"No need of that. Just whistle in that tube, and he'll speak to you," pointing to a speaking tube.

The Irishman walked over to the tube and blew a mighty blast in it. Hearing the whistle, Mr. Hobart came to the tube and inquired:

"What's wanted down there?"

"'Tis Oi, Paddy Flynn. 'Ar ye th' boss?"

"I am," said Mr. Hobart.

"Well, thfn," yelled Flynn, "stlick yer head out av th' second story windy whole Oi sthep out on th' sold-walk. Oi want to talk t' ye!"—Lippincott's.

Will Photograph Records

M. D. Totten representing the Western Rectigraph Co., which manufactures a machine for photographing records, was here Tuesday and placed one of the machines with the Waucoma Abstract Co. By the use of the rectigraph records can be copied at the rate of a page a minute.

The Hood River Abstract Co. recently ordered a machine similar to the rectigraph which it expects will arrive here shortly.

Legislation and Moral Suasion

The liquor interests do not fear moral suasion as they do legal suasion. In the old crusade days, when wives and mothers knelt down before the saloons and prayed that they might be closed, all they received from the lawless proprietors was a paper thrust in their faces containing a permit from the government to do business, and the efforts of these good women were derided. They, the women, were using moral suasion, or trying to.

Different agencies are needed in this christian warfare for the protection of the home against the saloon—agitation, education, organization and legislation. Then non-voters or very many of them, have for years been closely identified with the first three classes, but the last, the legislative branch, has been left for the voters, because the women simply could not do any better. When these leaders divorce themselves from political influences proper legislation may receive proper attention. The licensed saloon was legislated into existence and will have to be legislated out of existence in the same manner as other evils.

Lou Morse Tuesday bought the fine team of roadsters belonging to J. H. Heilbronner. Lou believes he will have it on the auto men next winter.
