AUTO PRIZE AWARDED
CAPT. McCAN'S CAR

Capt. C. B. McCan, with the assistance of his big machine, the Hood River Commercial Club and several local automobilists, succeeded in getting honors at the rose festival by being awarded third place in the automobile parade Wednesday.

Several other cars were taken to Portland, including those of Chas.
 Hall, Leslie Butler and G. Y. Edwards. It was decided by their owners, in conjunction with Mr. Mc-Can, to concentrate their efforts on one car, the captain's being selected.
 With the assistance of Secretary
 Skinner and the rest of the Hood River delegation the big Lozier was decorated with thousands of roses, the name "Hood River," being made from these beautiful flowers on each side of the car. During the parade a little girl suitably dressed for the occasion threw apples to the crowds of spectators that lined the streets.
 The car was driven by Capt. McCan, accompanied by his wife, and created a sensation along the route of the procession. The Hood River car competed with 400 others and the fact that it secured a prize is considered quite a feather in the cap of local automobile men and its owner.

The Oregonian in speaking of the parade gives the McCan car special mention as follows:

"Captain McCan, of Hood River, had one of the prettiest cars in the parade and the judges took cognizance of the fact by awarding him third prize in Class D, clubs and organizations. Capt. McCan followed a unique style of decorative architecture in building up his exhibit, and it drew forth round after round of applause as it went forward in the parade."

The prize is a handsome silver cup.

WILLOW FLAT
 Mr. O. H. Hill is entertaining relatives from the east.

The young men are planning a Sunday school picnic.

Little Margaret Masee has the prevailing malady—measles.

Mrs. Frank Masee enjoyed the rose festival in Portland last week.

The Priscilla Club hold their regular meeting with Mrs. Hagen this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hellbronner were callers at the Booth orchard Sunday.

Mr. Redfield has the foundation completed and lumber on the ground for his new fruit house.

We all regret the near departure of Mrs. Foor, who goes to take possession of her new home on the west side.

Berry picking and thinning is about over and residents of the Flat are looking forward to a breathing spell soon.

A. L. Hunter was compelled to give up his work on the well drill on account of ill health. His place is filled by John Hale.

There have been several narrow escapes from accidents, caused by automobiles rounding the short curves on many of the roads without giving warning of their approach.
 Cannot more care be taken, especially at these danger spots?

At the celebration of children's day the Sunday school rendered the following program:

Song of welcome, school.
 Prayer, Rev. T. W. Atkinson.
 23d Psalm, school.
 Song, "Sing for Joy," school.
 Recitation, "A Child's Gift," Esther Hagen.
 Concert recitation, "What we Give"
 three girls.
 Recitation, "Children's Day," Percy Smith.
 Song, "Our Children's Day," Sunbeam class.
 Recitation, "Little Children" Edith Weddell.
 Recitation, "The Stranger," Isabel Snider.
 Concert recitation, "A Garland of Roses," three girls.
 Song, "Our Day," Junior class.
 Recitation, "The Baby's Rose," Nellie Hagen.
 Concert recitation, "So Can Little Children," four boys.
 Recitation, "Influence of Children's Day," G. Hansen.
 Ten Minute Address, T. W. Atkinson.
 Closing song, school.

The school house was lavishly decorated, flowers being banked in every available space, while sweet voiced canaries helped make the air full of music. Much credit is due the Sunday school for so successful a program.
