 ious times with a number of the prominent papers of the middle west.

Singer Will Live at Hood River
 "Murphy, the Man Who Sings to Beat the Band," was here Sunday for a farewell look at his ranch before leaving for the east to fill an engagement. Mr. Murphy realizes that the time will come when he will get tired of singing to beat the band and wants a place where the noisiest musical sound will be the humming of bees in an orchard.
 Therefore he has acquired a snug little orchard in the far recesses of the Upper Valley with part of the tidy sum that he has laid up for a rainy day. There he will rest from his labors and give the fog horn voice that has won him name and fame a vacation. As his name indicates Mr. Murphy is not French. In fact he was born in dear old London, which is not, however, so far away from Ireland that an attentive listener cannot detect a suspicion of brogue when he speaks. A little blarney along with it adds interest to his conversation. Blue-eyed, smooth shaven and clean cut he is the acme of optimism and enthusiasm, and after meeting him it is easy to understand why the band has no show when Murphy sings.

 Monday he left for Portland and expects to leave the coast shortly for New York, where he will give the bands of the empire state a whirl.
