ARE CASCADE MOUNTAINS MOVING TOWARD RIVER

Just at noon Tuesday a large mass of rock became detached from the Red Bluff and crashed down into the valley below with a terrific noise, raising a dust that could be seen several miles. It is stated by parties that have been on top of the red bluff recently that a large crack has opened about 50 to 100 feet back from the edge, which is ten feet wide and from 40 to 100 feet deep. By one party at least this crevice has been followed for more than a mile and it is believed that it extends across the entire length of the bluff. It is claimed by some that the red bluff is continually moving toward the Columbia river. If so the movement is imperceptibly slow, and yet this crack indicates a movement of some kind. The well known movement on the Oregon side, where the O. R. & N. have had to rebuild their tracks several times, would naturally give rise to the rumor that this side is also moving. The red bluff is the supposed abutment of the Bridge of the Gods on the north side. If the mountains on both sides of the river are actually moving toward each other it would seem that the ancient Indian legend were really true; that the Bridge of the Gods did exist at one time and the pressure being removed by its fall the expansion of the mountains north and south pushes the two ends of the bridge towards each other. Or perhaps nature is trying to build another bridge.—Skamania Pioneer.

Favor Newspaper Advertising
The Allegheny County Business Men's Protective association was organized at Pittsburg, Curtis T. Werfel, chairman, and W. I. Mayer, secretary, are the temporary officers. Sol Mayer of Wheeling, W. Va., president of a similar organization, advised the keeping of a record of delinquent debtors by maintaining a printed book or list, copies to be forwarded each member of the organization. The association will strive to eliminate billboard and other advertising in favor of newspaper publicity.—American Press.

Teething children have more or less diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. All that is necessary is to give the prescribed dose after each operation of the bowels more than natural and then castor oil to cleanse the system. It is safe and sure. Sold by all dealers.

A NOBLE RED MAN.

He Was Not the Stately Chief Wolesey Expected to Meet.
Lord Wolesey was stationed in Canada many years ago. On one occasion he spent a holiday in the wilds, building a wigwam and practicing generally what we should now call the "back to nature" cure.
It was soon after his arrival in the country, and as the means of communication were still somewhat primitive he had never seen an Indian and was most anxious to make the red man's acquaintance. Some friends of his promised to send one or two to see him, as there was an encampment not very far away.
At last one morning Lord Wolesey was informed that a chief had called to see him. With his mind full of the conventional Indian, a man of commanding presence, arrayed in all the glory of paint and feathers, he eagerly stepped outside his wigwam to make his acquaintance. But he received a rude shock when he found a winned gentleman dressed in a tattered frock coat and ancient waistcoat.
However, the general stifled his astonishment and played the genial host, although horribly bored at the incessant chatter of the Indian, who had been in the service of the Hudson Bay company and therefore could speak broken English fairly fluently.
At length, anxious to get rid of his visitor, he took a twenty-five cent piece out of his pocket and, fearing he might be grossly insulting his visitor, presented it to him.
The latter took it, looked at it carefully, felt the edges and then said: "Can you make it half dollar?"

THE WET RAIN.

There Are Several Varieties, and All Have Their Whims.
Rain is principally composed of water, but it should not be confused with mining stock.
Rain always comes on Sunday afternoons and wash days.
Wash day may be changed to any day in the week, systematically or indiscriminately, but the rain will come.
Sunday afternoon, however, cannot be changed to any other afternoon. The rain will hold off until you are ready to go driving, and then the word will be passed along the mysterious currents of the air, and a double order of cirrus and cumulus will be hurried in from the west.
Also in the morning, when you leave home and carry your umbrella and raincoat, the rain will go away and sulk. But if you take heart of the fair sky and leave the umbrella and other trimmings then the rain will wait until you leave the office and then get you. Incidentally it will tuck a few grip and rheumatism germs into your system.
Rain is good for the crops, but why it takes you for a crop is hard to understand.
Rain never brought fame to any one except Noah. Probably on the day the flood began he watched the last picnic party drive out of town in a bus, shouting sarcastic things at him through the dust.
There are several varieties of rain, but the one most popular with the weather bureau is called "Probably."—Chicago News.

A Great Assistance.
"Good morning!" greeted the young man in the threadbare suit.
The millionaire turned around in his plush chair.
"Er—I think you have the advantage of me, young man," he said distantly.
"Why, don't you remember me, sir? I am broke. Two years ago you told me if I ever went broke to come around and see you."
The millionaire beamed a benevolent smile.
"So I did, my son; so I did. Here is the envelope all ready for you."
The young man took the bulky envelope, and his spirits rose like the mercury on a July day.
"Ah, a little assistance, I suppose?"
"No; a great assistance. It is a valuable little pamphlet I wrote during my spare time entitled 'How to Be Broke and Happy.'"—Chicago News.

Persian Shawls.
The "shawl" of Kerman—whence our word "shawl"—is made of goats' hair. Like the carpets, the shawl patterns are learned by heart, and the work is even finer. Children also do this work. It is estimated that Kerman turns out $300,000 worth of shawls, handmade, a year. The finest product is a fir cone pattern, a rich color effect, made especially for the governor of the province, who wears it as a robe of honor on the Persian New Year's day.

He Got Her.
"It's so long since you called upon me," said the girl as she came down to the young man in the parlor, "that I was beginning to think you were forgetting me."
"I am for getting you," replied the smart youth, "and that's why I've called tonight. Can I have you?"

A Real Crisis.
"Johnnie, do you understand what is meant by a crisis?"
"Yes, mum."
"Tell us, Johnnie."
"Two out an' the bases full, mum."—Buffalo Express.
