"Along this proposed road from

Hood River to Portland Oregon can boast of the most magnificent scenery in the world. Now, this should be made accessible to the tourists in work on this highway. Oregon is getting the tourists, but it is not getting their money, because there is no way for them to realize the beauty and value of Oregon property. To do this we must have means by which the visitors can inspect the country by closer ways

"We have nearly 90 cars in the Hood River Valley," said Captain McCan to the Oregonian, "Nearly all of the prosperous orchardists of the valley either now have cars or are contemplating getting them. Where some years ago it was a strange sight to see an automobile in or about Hood River, now all is different, for that means of transportation to and from the many orchards and strawberry farms is as common as the horse and buggy. Not alone are we buying the automobile for pleasure, but many of the farmers are considering the purchase of automobile trucks to facilitate the hauling of their crops to market.

Although advertised for sixty days the city water bonds do not seem to be popular and when the time set by the council for opening the bids arrived, but one bid was in evidence. This was received from S. A. Kean & Co. of Chicago who offered a premium of $990 if the rate of interest was raised to 6 per cent. The Kean company was communicated with to ascertain if they would take the bonds at 5 per cent., but they refused to do

Whether the council will take any further action at present has not not been determined, but it is understood that it contemplates letting the matter rest until next summer.

At the council meeting Monday night water bonds were not mentioned the members devoting their time to streets and the franchise for the mutual telephone company which was referred to the city attorney.
