PUBLIC VOICE

Wants Funds for Mail Carrier

Editor News:—Having been selected by G. E. Mowers, mail carrier on R. F. D. No. 3, Hood River, to solicit contributions for the benefit of the route, I desire to make my report through the press, having failed to get enough patrons of the route together to hold a meeting. It was understood by Mr. Mowers when he went to work on the route that a fund of $300 would be raised, placed in the bank, and he would receive $25 a month from it. He has been at work since the 10th of March, and no effort was made to raise the subsidy until my work was commenced some time during the latter part of July. I put in about one full week and covered the whole route. Subscriptions to the amount of $180.25 were signed, of which $140.75 were paid in cash. Many people who understand the situation gave freely and cheerfully, but there were some who refused to give anything. Of these, some called it graft, others said we should go on a strike, discontinue all mail routes in Hood River, and then the government would come to terms and raise the wages of our carriers. Again, there are those who can not afford to pay to keep up the route. Some of these said that a job like the mail carrier's, at $75 a month, would look good to them. Some seemed to think they were giving to charity when they gave up a dollar or so to the mail carrier. Far from being charity, it is strictly a business proposition. We have the mail route; the government pays $900 a year for its maintenance. We know $900 is not enough and we know the department will pay no more. No man will undertake to carry the route for the government pay, and we should all be glad to contribute to make the salary sufficient.

It will be seen that my week's work of collecting failed to raise the amount required. I therefore call upon those who gave one dollar and can afford to give more to increase their subscription and pay at Butler's bank. And all those who subscribed and failed to pay me are asked to pay at the bank. Two persons (one a woman) gave $3 each. Seventy-one persons gave a dollar each; 30 gave $2 each, and the sums ranged down to 25 cents. When Mr. Mowers was asked to take the route, I am told (not by him) several parties said they would give $5. But I failed to find these parties. A good many were away from home when I called and were not interviewed. They can pay at the bank.

A meeting of the patrons of the route should be called to meet, say in Barrett district, when a committee should be selected to audit my financial report. To send a man out collecting money with no one to report to is not the proper thing to do. Steps should be taken by the citizens of the valley to have another mail route established. Our carriers have long distances to travel and too much is expected of them. Delivery of mail at 7 o'clock in the evening in this day and age, in Hood River, doesn't well jibe with our boasted Hood River spirit. We need more carriers and they should be better paid and better equipped to facilitate the delivery of mail. And we want carriers who can and will reach every mail box on his route every delivery day in the year.

General satisfaction is expressed with the work of the present carrier. He wishes to continue on the route, but cannot do so unless the full $300 is paid into the bank.
