Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Blanchard returned last week from a visit in the Wenatchee and Yakima valleys. Mr. Blanchard brought back with him samples of apples which, although fine specimens, do not favorably compare with the fruit here.

D. E. Miller, of Parkdale, has suspended operations in his orchard for the winter, and came to town Friday. Mr. Miller is still afflicted with rheumatism and expects to go to Collins Springs for treatment shortly. He gathered 1200 boxes of fine apples from his young orchard this year.

Wm. Dubiller, president of the Commercial Wireless Manufacturing Company spent Sunday here. Mr. Dubiller is located at Seattle where the company he is associated with is erecting a factory for manufacturing wireless telephone apparatus. The company recently established wireless telephone connection between Tacoma and Seattle, a distance of fifty miles, and proved its practicability. A number of steamships are also being equipped with it.

Fred Shoemaker, now located at Seattle, came here Sunday and joined Mrs. Shoemaker who has been the guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mae Gilbert, for some time. Mrs. Shoemaker made a tour of England and Europe this summer, occupying several weeks, in company with Miss Schwartz of White Salmon. Mr. Shoemaker met his wife in New York and they have but recently returned to the coast. While in the metropolis Mr. Shoemaker was attacked with appendicitis and successfully operated upon.

C. G. Wilmeroth, manager of the Rogue River Valley Fruit Growers' Union, accompanied by A. C. Manning, a prominent Chicago business man and the traveling freight agent for the Chicago & Northwestern railroad came here Saturday and took a ride over the valley, afterwards visiting the warehouse of the Apple Growers' Union to get posted on Hood River's pack. Mr. Wilmeroth said he came here to see how we did it and to show his companions the packing methods employed here.

Miss Fitch, a resident of Galva, Ill., and a friend of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Deem, made a short visit here Monday. Miss Fitch is a newspaper-woman and the editor of a weekly paper at Galva. She comes of a journalistic family, her father having been an editor and her brother now being in charge of the Journal at Peoria, Ill. As George Fitch he is well known as a short story writer, his work having gained a wide reputation through the Saturday Evening Post. Miss Fitch was on the coast to install a fraternity order at Eugene. Afterwards she spent several days at Seattle and came to Hood River from Portland by the Columbia river route.

A New Reason. Annette, aged three, has two very talkative little sisters, and sometimes she finds it difficult to make herself heard at the table. One day when the others had been monopolizing the conversation longer than she liked Annette raised her finger with a warning gesture and whispered half aloud: "Everybody keep still. My foot's asleep."—Dellmeator.

Congregational Church Notes

The pastor was elected chairman of the state committee on foreign missionary affairs at the state conference last week.

Last Sunday our Sunday school set a new high water mark, the attendance being 139.

The usual preparatory service and business meeting preceding the communion will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30. All are invited.

Sunday morning the Lord's Supper will be celebrated.

Sunday evening the pastor will address himself to the voters and all interested in civic improvement.

A reception will be tendered the pastor and his family by the members of the church and congregation at the Commercial Club apartments next Friday evening. All the citizens of Hood River are invited to come and join in the welcome.

S. W. STARK Republican Candidate for Judge Seventh Judicial District

WILL SUPPORT G. D. CULBERTSON

To the voters of Hood River county:

I wish to say in regard to a rumor set afloat by someone who is opposing my election, that I intend to move to Portland, that this statement is being given out to injure my candidacy and should be disregarded.

I became a candidate for the office of county judge at the request of a number of taxpayers and citizens of the county, who believe that it would be best for the county that someone be elected to the office who is familiar with its affairs, and who should, on this account, give the people a better administration than a stranger. In this respect, I quote a few lines from the letter of a Republican on the subject.

Dear Sir: Although a Republican, I desire to tender my support to you as a candidate for county judge, believing that the office requires a man of mature years and experience to administer its affairs properly, and also one familiar with the affairs of county. I believe partisan politics should be dropped in the matter of county offices, and that the voters should elect men qualified for the positions, among them yourself.

Yours truly, G. D. CULBERTSON, Esq.

As a candidate for county judge, should the people of the county see fit to elect me, I shall endeavor to give them an administration that will further the best interests of the county and at the same time be conducted as economically as good government will allow.

Asking for your support on the conditions outlined, I am Very respectfully, G. D. CULBERTSON, Adv.

An English Sanctuary.

Beverly minister, 180 miles north of London, is the shrine of St. John of Beverley, who died in the year 721. In 938 Atelstan, king of England, gave several privileges to the monastery, one being the privilege of sanctuary. This was not merely for man slaying; it was open to all wrongdoers except those who had been guilty of treason. For ordinary offenses, such as horse stealing, cattle stealing, being backward in accounts or being in receipt of suspected goods, a man came into sanctuary about a mile from the monastery or church. There used to be four crosses on the main roads leading to Beverley marking the limit of the area. In cases of manslaughter and murder it was not sufficient to be within one of these crosses. Before the fugitive could claim sanctuary he must enter the church and seat himself in a stone chair known as the "frid stool" or "freed chair." To this place many fled for refuge from all parts of the country.

Appropriate.

The worshippers in a certain chapel had some trouble to keep their faces straight a short time ago. During the service some commotion was caused by a gentleman who accidentally ignited a box of wax matches in his pocket and was trying to put them out, while his alarmed neighbors struggled equally hard to help him. The minister, being shortsighted, could not make out the reason of the disturbance, and, thinking to diplomatically cover the incident, he innocently said: "Brethren, there is a little noise going on. Until it is over let us sing 'Sometimes a Light Surprises.'"—London Answers.

LAFFERTY WILL BE HERE THIS WEEK

A. W. Lafferty Republican candidate for Congress from the Second Oregon District will be here to say a last word to voters this week.

It is expected that Mr. Lafferty whose election is now conceded will be here to-day and also Friday evening when a big Republican rally will be held in the Odd Fellows Hall. Lafferty has just returned from Eastern Oregon where he received an ovation all along the line and will wind up his campaign in Portland.

LOCAL TEAM LOSES BY SCORE OF 5-0

The local boys played their first game of football Sunday when they met the McLaughlins of Portland and were defeated by a score of 5 to 0.

A big crowd was in attendance and the game was watched with interest. The Hood River team was much heavier than their opponents, but the latter having had more practice excelled in team work.

C. B. McCan was captain of the home team and Murray Kay, referee. Several of the players were laid out during the game.

REPUBLICAN RALLY FRIDAY EVENING

A big Republican rally will be held at Odd Fellows, Hall Friday evening when Judge R. R. Butler of Gilliam county and a number of local speakers will discuss the issues of the campaign. The meeting is expected to be the most interesting during the campaign and it is expected that several out of town speakers in addition to Mr. Butler will be present.
