NOVEMBER
Mr. Taft, who rules the nation. Offers this, his proclamation: Whereas, Providence continues Blessing us from day to day, And the boon of independence Has, we take it, come to stay; And whereas, Indulgent Nature Lavishes upon us still Bounty in excess of what the Weather and the bugs can't kill; And whereas, The old republic Couldn't be improved upon, Notwithstanding everybody Gets to run it off and on; Therefore I, as delegated Now and for a short time hence President, decree that turkey Shall go up to 20 cents.

That's about all there is to it. Once the country raised its own, and the White House proclamation was not greeted with a groan. Father simply grabbed the hatchet, mother got the water hot, father read the proclamation to the turkeys in the lot, all the young and female turkeys promptly fainted from the shock, and after due farewells the gobbler laid his head upon the block.

No one telephoned the butcher, asking what a turkey cost. No one in his deep resentment wished the Pilgrims had been lost. No one, while the feast proceeded, knew the torment of the rack figuring upon his napkin what the day had set him back.

Everybody was provided, as the founders pre-supposed. No one can be very thankful, if the truth should be disclosed, paying what we pay for turkey, and for all of Heaven's gifts, feeling that the day was founded for the Armours and the Swifts.

November gets its name from the Latin novem (nine), and was originally the ninth month of the year. This brought Thanksgiving around two months earlier than we have it now, and it became very unpopular. The insurgents, who constituted a majority in the agricultural districts, were bitterly opposed to it. They made two contentions: First, that young turkeys were not old enough to market; second, that crops had not progressed to the point where it was possible to make out whether there was anything to be thankful for or not. In 713 B. C. the storm broke. The insurgents carried Gaul, Britannia and 17 other doubtful states, and the Forum immediately assembled and made November the eleventh-month of the year.

At any rate the snow will fly, and the wild duck split across the sky with both eyes focused on the ground, and his tail-piece going round and round. The eager hunter will deploy and supplement the live decoy, and the pneumococcus, while he toots, will perforate his rubber boots.

A little shooting now and then is relished by a lot of men. They like to gallivant about and let the farmers run them out. It does them good to feel, by jing, that Morgan don't own everything, and if he came, in consequence, and also tried to climb the fence, together with his dog and gun, he, too, would also get the run.

November will be unusual this year for the reason that there will be no full moon. This is because there will be a total eclipse of the moon on the night of the 16th, when it would otherwise be full. This eclipse will be visible in the United States and in Wall street, and it will send bacon down a couple of points.

At any rate, upon a day Depledged in the almanacs, December, desolate and gray, Will come to whistle through the cracks.

WHITE SALMON MAN TICKLED WRONG FOOT

When Frank Eagan was traveling around after Wade, the confidence man, he had a little experience that made him look like a left-over dinner. He was on the sleeper and when he saw the toes of a little foot sticking out between the hangers of the opposite berth he was attracted, for Frank is a great fancier of children. "What pretty little tootsle wootsies! and so fat and chubby, too." The foot twitched nervously, but Frank playfully hung on, with "This little toe went to market, this little toe stayed at home, and"—just then a lady's voice came from behind the curtains. "You may be having a good time, Mister, but little Mary is in the upper berth and that is my foot you are hanging onto." Frank dropped the pretty little foot and shrank up small enough to sleep on the bell rope the rest of the night.—White Salmon Enterprise.
