

THE BEST POWER PUMP EVER

This is what you are looking for, isn't it; one that does the work with the trouble left out? The Bean Giant Power Sprayer No. 125 demonstrated this fact satisfactorily last week to all who saw it in action.

BECAUSE

It is the only one with non-corrosive cylinder lining, and has

1. No stuffing box or outside packing.
2. Bell metal ball-valves with reversible and removable seats.
3. Underneath suction, preventing air-lock, insuring uniformity in mixture and increasing efficiency fully 30 per cent.
4. The compact low-down construction, easy to handle in any orchard.
5. Slow speed, extreme simplicity and perfect accessibility of parts.

Give us an opportunity to demonstrate these valuable points to you. A request from you will do it.

CUSTOM SPRAYING

We will contract to attend to your spraying with this wonderful pump at reasonable prices consistent with a first class job and you to be the judge.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM WINS CLOSE GAME

The Hood River High School basketball team won from Stevenson High by a score of 19 to 18 Friday evening. The Stevenson team was much heavier than the Hood River team, but Hood River made up for this by fast team work. The game was snappy from start to finish, and well played by both teams. The only thing that marred the game was roughness. This was all due to the Stevenson referee, who was warned at the first of the game, by the president of the league, to bar out all roughness. But he failed to do this, allowing the boys to roll on the floor with the ball before blowing the whistle for held ball.

The first half ended with Stevenson in the lead 13 to 7, the Hood River team's work not being up to the standard. In the second half, Hood River showed the visitors what team work was, getting three baskets one after the other. The rest of the game was one thrill after another, as shown by the deafening applause from the 250 spectators. The final score was 13 to 18 in favor of Hood River.

The line-up was as follows:

H. R. H. S.	S. H. S.
Shay	F Atwell
E. Franz	F Millander
Morse	C Hazzard
Franz, Jr.	G Atwell
Murphy	G Sly

A reception and program was tendered the Stevenson crowd at the High School. Hood River High will play the next game with Lincoln High, of Portland, on February 24th. This is not one of the Columbia River League games.

EX-SHERIFF MORSE GOES TO NEW HOME

L. E. Morse, better known to a host of friends at Hood River as "Lou," left Monday for his new home at Spray, Oregon. Mr. Morse came to Hood River a good many years ago and during his long residence here was identified in many ways to his credit with the growth and development of the city and valley. In the early days he was interested in various ventures that brought development and prosperity to the country. He served the city as one of its councilmen for two terms and later was appointed the first sheriff of Hood River county. He declined to become a candidate at the end of his term although it was doubtful if any in the county could have beaten him for the office. In public and private life Mr. Morse, to use a common expression, "has always been the same" to everybody, and left Hood River with the best wishes of a large circle of friends for a long life and a highly prosperous one. Mr. Morse will have charge of a 3,000 acre hay and cattle ranch at Spray, of which he is part owner.

Stops Sale of Land
An injunction has been issued by the Circuit Court, in the case of Clay Hadley, plaintiff vs the Hood River Irrigation District defendant restraining the sale of a tract of land owned by the plaintiff, for delinquent taxes, and to the fact that at the time the Irrigation District was formed plaintiff's land was a homestead with the title vested in the government. S. W. Stark is attorney for plaintiff and Derby & Wilbur are attorneys for the defendant.

WHITE SALMON
(From the Enterprise)
Rev. Lowden brought three 1909 Newtown Pippins out of his pantry at Underwood the other day and found them in remarkably good condition, considering they had been in a south pantry over a year. They were slightly wrinkled, but upon placing in the ground a short time came out in good eatable condition. The apples, of course, were non-irrigated.

The new lodge building which the Woodmen of the World have decided to erect will be a unique and striking structure. It will be a log bungalow, and already the woodsman is felling the timbers which are to be 14-foot and placed perpendicular. The dimensions are 40 feet wide and 80 long, for a gymnasium and reading room are to be part of the building. There will also be a second story.

While Mr. and Mrs. Hamblin were in Tacoma they became acquainted with a lady, Mrs. Shaw, from Philadelphia, who was in the west looking for a location for a home. It took but a few words to interest her in the White Salmon country; she came, she saw, and was delighted with the country; so much so that she had Mr. Hamblin negotiate with Herbert Williams, now in Minneapolis, for thirty acres of his land near the Wolpert place, paying $10,000. Part of the land is developed.

Dr. Russell operated on a man's hand for a wound that was received in a peculiar way. The man undertook to spank his young son, who naturally threw his hand behind for protection. The lad had an indelible pencil in his fingers which the father struck, the point penetrating the wrist. For a week it was treated at Hood River, but would not heal. The other day the arm was placed under Dr. Russell's X-ray and a lot of purple pus was shown. An incision brought it out and it was high time, for a portion of the pencil was still there and causing trouble.

W. L. Sutherland went to Olympia Monday to present the bill that, if passed, will place White Salmon county on the map. He was selected by the committee as the best qualified man for that mission. The bill will be placed before the committee covering the formation of counties, where arguments will be made for and against reporting the bill to the house, and Mr. Sutherland will do all he can to have the committee send it out with the recommendation that it pass. The bill will probably be presented to the legislature by Representative Hornbrook of this county. In the senate John E. Chappell, the representative of this district, will be for the bill, if true to his declaration during the campaign when he said he was in favor of county division if a majority of the west end of the county wanted it.

FIRE EATERS.

The Trick of Breathing Flames and Sparks From the Mouth.
Fire tricks were practiced in very ancient times. The first-known fire breather was a Syrian slave named Eunus, a leader in the Servile war in Sicily, 130 B. C. He pretended to have immediate communication with the gods. When desirous of inspiring his followers with courage he breathed flames and sparks from his mouth. In order to accomplish this feat Eunus pierced a nutshell at both ends, and having filled it with some burning substance, he put it in his mouth and breathed through it. The same trick is performed today in a more approved manner. The performer rolls some flax or hemp into a ball about the size of a walnut, which he lets burn until it is nearly consumed. Then he rolls around it more flax while it is still burning. By this means the fire is retained in the ball for a long time. He slips this ball into his mouth unperceived and breathes through it. His breath revives the fire, and he sustains no injury so long as he inhales only through his nostrils. Various theories have been advanced to account for other feats of this sort performed by the ancients. An old ordeal was the holding of a red-hot iron by the accused, who was not burned if he were innocent. Probably some protective paste was used on the hands. The peculiar property of mineral salts, such as alum, in protecting articles of dress from fire has long been known. An old Milanese devised a costume consisting of a cloth covering for the body which had been steeped in alum. A metallic dress of wire gauze was added to this, and thus protected a man might walk on hot iron.—Harper's.

London's Dramatic Censors.
London has had its absurd dramatic censors even if it cannot quite come up to Vienna. Colley Cibber in his autobiography tells us of one master of the revels who was responsible for the licensing of plays in those days expunging the whole first act of "Richard III." on the ground that the distresses of Henry VI. would remind weak people of King James, then living in France. In fact, Shakespeare has more than once been censored, for "King Lear" was inhibited during the illness of George III. George Colman when reader of plays banned the use of such words as angel and heaven.—London Chronicle.

HUBBARD STARS IN PORTLAND VAUDEVILLE

There are hundreds of persons undergoing a series of song and dance stunts at the Orpheum in Portland this week in order that they may hear a twenty minute "heart to heart" from Elbert Hubbard, the Roycroft philosopher and editor of the Philistine and Fra magazines of East Aurora, New York.

It was a startling thing for many of the members of the flock to think of their meek Pastor Hubbard in the glare of the footlights, when it was first announced that the sage of Erie county had taken a brief engagement on the Orpheum circuit. Mr. Hubbard went on first as an experiment, and when he found that many of his friends came there to hear him and that he reached a great group of persons who had not been touched by his writings or his more formal lectures, he was pleased and resolved to spend a few weeks each year in vaudeville in the larger cities of the country.

In speaking of his experiences on the circuit, The Fra said: "Many experiences come and go and are lost in the dust-bin of forgetfulness. This one will never pass. I made new friendships, and was one with a strange world, separate and divorced from the world of trade—the world of mimicry and mimes, of players to whom 'The play's the thing'—loving, tender, intense, innocent, loyal to their art, living in dreams, grips, boarding houses, steamertrunks and emotions, the children of the stage. After life's fitful play may they sleep well. God bless them all."

Of course Mr. Hubbard is well paid for his 40 minutes work a day, it being understood that the managers give him $1500 a week. He is always glad to meet people, and during this week in Portland the apostle of joy and work will be entertained by the Press Club, and today he is to be the guest of the Ad Club at luncheon, when he will speak on "How to Lose Money on Advertising." Mr. Hubbard is a great advertiser for himself and other people, and it is a question whether he can tell the ad men how to do something he has never done himself. At the close of the Orpheum engagement in Portland Mr. Hubbard will leave the stage, and is coming to Hood River to deliver his lecture, "The March of the Centuries," in the Hellbronner hall Monday evening.

Shorter Hours For Hair Carvers

At a meeting of the local barbers' association held recently, a new agreement was reached in regard to hours. Commencing March 1st, all shops will open at 7:30 a. m. and close at 7 p. m., except Saturday, when they will be kept open until 10 p. m. On holidays the shops will be closed, but will be kept open two hours later the evening before.

IN LAW'S TOILS FOR ISSUING BAD CHECKS

J. P. Renshaw, said to be a resident of Wasco, was arrested and brought back from Mosier Saturday for passing a fraudulent check for $10 on the Bragg Mercantile Company. The check was drawn on the Wasco Warehouse bank of Wasco. While endeavoring to convince the Bragg company that there must be some mistake in the transaction word was received by telephone from The Dalles that Renshaw was wanted at Pendleton for cashing a bad check for $25. He was locked up in the city jail.

Renshaw had the check cashed by the Bragg company by making a small purchase of groceries and giving it in payment. He received the balance in cash. Later the Bragg company telephoned to Wasco and discovered that Renshaw had no account in the bank there. A complaint was made and, armed with a warrant, Constable E. S. Olinger, who discovered that Renshaw had started for Mosier on foot drove to that place and arrested him.
