VALLEY CHURCH HAS HIGH JINKS

Mr. and Mrs. Sweany did one of their old tricks last Saturday evening. They opened their home to 25 young people, they being the classes of Mr. and Mrs. Sweany, the Loyal Sons and the Loyal Daughters. The evening was intensely interesting. There were 35 minutes of parliamentary drill and by the time they got through with their "motions," "amendments," "previous question," "reconsider," "lay on the table" and so on they were so twisted that I am reminded of a story that seems to fit the case. An Irishman was sleeping in the second story of a hotel. The cry of fire was sounded. Pat leaped out of bed and in his overhaste got his apparel on wrong side to, so that he did not know whether he was going or coming. He shot out of the window and stopped upon coming in contact with the ground. Two men ran and picked him up and said, "Pat, are you killed?" Pat looked at himself and after a moment's reflection replied, "No, Oim not kilt, but Oim thatally twisted!" The whole bunch of those parliamentarians looked as if they had been in a railway wreck and the presiding officer shows the effect of the terrible mix-up yet. The home was nicely decorated. Original games were played. Ice cream, cake, coffee, milk and candy were freely dispensed. The evening was most pleasantly spent and the young folks left feeling that they had had the time of their lives. These two classes are growing. Mrs. Sweany's class had 21 present Sunday.

On Tuesday evening the Live Wire Bible class assembled at the home of

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cauler. It fell into excellent hands, they are jolly good people. Mr. Cauler had a vision. He saw a large bunch of live wires crowding in upon his home. He awakened and went out and hitched up his steeds to the wagon and made for town before daybreak, filled the wagon with chairs and got back in time for breakfast. Only a live wire could do this. In the meantime his wife had hearts struck all over the house. When he entered and saw hearts, hearts everywhere he became jealous and immediately accused his wife of flirting. She stoutly denied the charge, but he contended that all those hearts would not be in the house if she had not in some wise tampered with them. She then explained to him that they were not real hearts but simply used for the purpose of decorating the home for the evening occasion. He then calmed down and took refreshment. The evening was a lively one. Sparks from live wires flew in every direction until the house was full of chained lightning. C. Lee Morse was struck with a spark so that they had to sprinkle water on his face to bring him to, and J. J. Gibbons and Roy Smith were hit with such a hot one that it sent them into a trance. But they were the better for it, for when they came to they resolved that they would be at the Bible class on time Sunday mornings if they had to sit up all Saturday night. Great cheers greeted this declaration. Hurry up games were played. Everything seemed to be charged. Even the lunch got a move on itself. It came and soon disappeared. And now, feeling full to the brim, the live wires went home in the light of the moon saying, "What a jolly good time we had." Three cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Cauler. There were eight new members Sunday.

The Aid meet at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Auhagen Thursday afternoon. The day was delightful and so was the crowd. Prof. Auhagen entertained the men by giving them some pointers in astronomy in which science he is a master, being for several years in the service of the government in that capacity. Mrs. Auhagen needs no schooling along the line of keeping a gathering in good nature and showing it a splendid time. The afternoon was spent most pleasantly, the lunch being one of the excellent features. All left with a choice word for host and hostess. The adds in a very prosperous condition Mrs. J. J. Gibbons is president.

THE NEW ELMORE GAINING FAVOR

Valves are parts you don't want to buy. No four cycle engine would have them if they were not necessary for its operation. The Elmore has no valves, its owner has no engine troubles. Ask your friend with the four cycle engine his most constant expense and one hundred to one his answer—time in making adjustments and valve troubles. On every four cycle engine there are 40 or 50 delicate parts always in motion and each one is indispensable. Break the least spring, rod, cam or any part of the other dozens of intricate parts and the engine is dead.

You can't put an Elmore out of commission unless you break a heavy cylinder, a powerful piston or a tough steel connecting rod. You simply can't do it under service conditions of any sort. What does all this mean to a prospective buyer? You'll not deliberately buy the reasonable certainty of unlimited trouble and expense—not if you see an Elmore first.

L. D. Boyed has taken the local agency for the Elmore and has already placed one of these cars here, having sold one to Dr. M. F. Shaw. The car arrived Monday and is being looked over with interest by automobile men.

LOCAL O. A. C. CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The Hood River O. A. C. club completed its organization at a meeting Saturday afternoon, at which time the constitution and by-laws were adopted and the following officers elected: President, R. A. McCully, vice president, Mrs. Roy Brock, secretary and treasurer, C. T. Galligan. The club begins its career with about twenty-five charter members, most of whom are graduates of the college.

The club is making arrangements to entertain Dean Cordley and other members of the faculty at a college evening during their visit to the valley in March. They are also endeavoring to have the O. A. C. Glee Club include Hood River in their schedule during their tour in April.

On Wednesday evening, February 22, 1911, another of those popular dances will be given at Pine Grove Grange hall. A big chicken pie supper will be served by the ladies of the Grange. Don't forget the date.

COURT HOUSE TO BE ENLARGED

To provide needed additional quarters for the county officials the county court is now considering plans for that purpose. Bids have been advertised for and are now being submitted. The details of the work of enlargement are being taken care of by County Judge G. D. Culbertson. At first the county commissioners were inclined to view with favor a proposition to purchase the Congregational church building and move it to connect with the court house, as it was thought that it would serve admirably for a court room. It was found, however, that the expense would be greater than anticipated and the project has been abandoned. The proposition now is to build an addition to the court house, which will be commenced as soon as the contract is accepted.

BIG CLASS OF CANDIDATES WILL SOON RIDE GOAT

The big class of candidates which will enter Elkdorm Thursday night are all ready to ride the goat and 28 will be escorted to The Dalles on that evening by their soon-to-be brothers and put through the mill.
