LIVE NEWS FROM THE UPPER VALLEY

The many friends of Warren Cooper will be pleased to learn that he is convalescing from his recent illness. Barney contracted the malady while playing the Big Brother act to a bunch of children at one of the resorts where he sojourned the past winter. Kind neighbors have sent numerous toys and other playthings to amuse him during his confinement.

The dastardly act of poisoning valuable dogs is being perpetrated by some person in the Valley Crest neighborhood. A reward of $25 is offered by Rae Babson for the apprehension and conviction of the culprit. There are a few dogs, however, that haunt the Puckdaff store, which would cause very little sorrow if they were to shuffle off the mortal coil.

In anticipation of the "discontinuance" or "abolishment" of the lower valley, would suggest that the News move its plant up here at once, as there are only a few more choice lots available in the town site. A rumor is current, up here, that a large number of people from Jersey City are camped on the border of some of the choice tracts in the lower valley anxiously awaiting to take possession as soon as the owners abandon their ranches.

The Oregon atmosphere truly has a tendency to cause drowsiness. Oregon is waking up slowly but surely. So people from other climes attending divine worship here should not take cognizance of the fact that some of the congregation, or even a deacon, take "forty winks" during the service. It is not the sermons that it can be attributed to, for they are inspiring and eloquently delivered. If you must take a nap kindly make provision for the offering beforehand.

Another mystery was solved in the home of Chester Waiton. He was just about recovered from his long spell of illness when he was informed by his better seven eighths that the sewer pipe ceased to perform its intended functions. "Oh! I'll fix that in a jiffy," and snatching the action to the word, he uncoupled a section of pipe, but found that as clear as a whistle. "Must be outside; will have to hold up the family wash a few moments longer, as a little digging will be necessary." After working for about a week he discovered the length that contained the obstruction. He tried to remove it with hand pressure, but it was of no use, so he attached his 40-horse power spray pump and out shot an object that startled him. Upon investigation it proved to be their long lost cat, which disappeared about the time Bagley's meat market opened for business. A collar is now fastened over the outlet to prevent a recurrence of such a catastrophe.

WHITE SALMON

(From the Enterprise)
Albert Hall of Hood River was in town last week. Mr. Hall will have charge of the Pacific Light & Power system at Hood River, Mosier and White Salmon. John Thompson will have charge of the local plant.

Capt. Mitchell of Camas Prairie passed through town Wednesday on his way home from the county seat, where he had gone as a witness in the drainage proceedings, only to find that the judge had gone home and the jury had left for the prairie to make personal examination before assessing the benefits and damages in the matter. The captain says that the appraisal by the jury will be such that drainage will become a settled fact.

Land prospectors, ranchers coming from the east for summer work and laborers for development of orchards power site work and other jobs, have been coming into White Salmon the past few days in such numbers that the hotels and rooming houses have been over run. Tents have had to be utilized; nine men at one hostelry had to go to the hay loft, and one morning a couple of travelers were found sleeping in a wagon box. To meet the growing need of the place Dewey and son, owners of a large ranch adjoining the town, will put up a large building on the corner of Jewett avenue and Main street, perhaps of concrete, one floor of which will be an apartment for roomers.

When Sam Hill had the taxpayers of Klickitat county vote $10,000 last fall to enable him to carry on the road building from Lyle to Maryhill he assured them that the road work would not be held up because of the state-falling to provide the funds. Yet the state has done that very thing. The bill reported out by the committee provided for state highway appropriation, but it was to be spent east of Klickitat county and $40,000 in Skamania county from Stevenson down. The bill, however, failed to pass and all appropriation for special state highways cut out, and reports to the dairies are to the effect that the convicts working on state highways are being called back to the penitentiary. One of the reasons why the highway appropriations did not carry was because it would help Portland, a very narrow way, indeed, to look at the matter.

At the railway meeting of the Mt. Adams electric line Thursday evening the company put this proposition up to the people: If sixty persons will each take $400 in stock the company will build a road up the grade according to their original survey. They will also turn in their assets, consisting of surveys and a power site, the latter of which is located in the big bend below the Bishop ranch some distance and valued at about $3500. The plan would be to put on either a cogwheel locomotive capable of pushing or pulling a car or an electric motor for passenger service. After getting to the top of the hill and demonstrating that the line was a revenue producer it would then be easy to show outside capitalists what it was doing and interest them to the extent of extending it up the valley. A motion was passed that the Mount Adams line procure a competent contractor to estimate the cost of the line up the hill to the town of White Salmon and make report. The people of White Salmon now have two short line railway propositions before them, which complicates things. Some people will favor the road being built largely by outside capital, while others will be of the opinion that the Mount Adams line should be supported. The Enterprise trusts that one or the other of the propositions will be adopted, for the road is a real necessity.

Snakes Kept Him Busy

Will Jordan made a "killing" last Saturday. His children discovered a big rattlesnake in the rim rock and called Mr. Jordan. Having dispatched this one, he found five more good sized reptiles and made short work of them. Rattles seem to be getting more plentiful in this section.—Bickleton News.

TEACHING OREGON FARMERS BY MAIL

The principle of making the college of direct, practical service to every taxpayer of the state of Oregon, of carrying its assistance and instruction out to those who are unable to attend the courses at Corvallis, is demonstrated in a striking manner by the Agricultural College in its new correspondence course in farm accounting and business methods, given by the school of commerce under Dean J. A. Bexell.

One advantage to the farmers, in addition to the fact that it is free to all, is that it can be taken up at any time and carried on at the convenience of the student, without restriction as to the number of months it covers. There are already fifty students enrolled in the work, and it has so attracted the attention of publishers of the bulletin of lesson instructions that they have evolved a plan by which Dean Bexell's course can be offered by all the different agricultural schools throughout the country, adapted to each locality and its particular needs.

As fast as the funds and instructional force at the college will allow other courses will be added to the correspondence work for farmers, including a study of rural law, and agricultural economics. Unfortunately the legislature did not allow the appropriation requested for this work, so it cannot at this time receive the attention and development planned for it. It is the policy of the college, however, to extend these advantages to the people of the rural communities of the state as fast as resources will permit.
